American-British Bombers Continue Attacks To Soften Italian Defenses

PATROL RAIDS ARE MADE OVER ISLANDS

(International News Service)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, June 18.—Liberator bombers of the United States ninth air force again pummeled the Sicilian airdromes at Comiso and Biscari in a continuance of the Allied aerial campaign to knock out Axis bases at the toe of the Italian boot, an official communique said today.

The Liberator bomber attacks were announced in Cairo simultaneously with an announcement from headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that the heavily bombed Italian mainland port of Naples had been blasted anew by British Wellington bombers.

Direct hits were scored on a hangar at Comiso airdrome by the B-24's and the airfield dispersal areas covered with bomb bursts.

Damaging hits were observed on workshops and the runway at Biscari.

Long-range Royal Air Force bombers at the same time attacked and damaged a sailing vessel off Delos Island in the Aegean Sea.

"Many cannon shell and machine-gun strikes were seen," the communique said.

Italian Bomber Down At Cyprus

Wednesday night, it was revealed, a three-engined Italian bomber was shot down by a long-range fighter off Cyprus. The crew of the enemy plane was seen in the water after the craft was downed.

The assault by Wellingtons of the strategic air force based in North Africa was carried out Wednesday night. The attack was concentrated on the dock area which already has suffered terrific damage from previous raids by both British and American bombers from North Africa and the Middle East.

Two Axis aircraft were destroyed in other operations on the same night.

The communique announcing the Naples raids said that only routine patrolling was carried on throughout yesterday as Italy and the Mediterranean islands of Sicily and Sardinia were granted a second successive respite from assaults by North African air units.

None of the Allied craft participated in the Naples raid or flying on patrol missions was lost.

Funds For 100,000 Planes Included In Huge Army Bill

By WILLIAM ZIMMERMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Smashing all records, the house appropriations committee today approved a $71,800,000 Army supply bill carrying funds to build approximately 100,000 planes, and arm and maintain a fighting force of 7,533,000.

Declaring that its sole objective is "that the armed services shall have every dollar essential for the early attainment of an unconditional surrender by all the Axis powers, "the committee, in a formal report, frankly stated that "the cost is frightful."

"The committee," continued the report, "is convinced that in some instances the estimates lean toward the liberal side as regards unpredictable demands, but even so the need must be recognized that it is well nigh impossible to anticipate demands that may arise in prosecuting a war world wide scope."

Stupendous Outlay

Here is what the stupendous outlay will be spent for:

1. $23,655,000,000 for "approximately 100,000 airplanes of which

Gigantic Aerial Clashes May Be Prelude To New Large-Scale Action

JAPS SUFFERING HUGE PLANE LOSSES

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The gigantic aerial battle between American and Japanese forces over Guadalcanal today was considered in some naval quarters as a possible prelude to fresh major clashes in the Pacific.

While the sky battle was precipitated by the Japanese when they sent a squadron estimated at more than 100 planes against Guadalcanal, it was fairly obvious that the enemy move was designed to check or upset American plans for new offensive blows against the Japs.

The growing strength of American forces in the South Pacific was clearly underscored by the fact that U. S. forces routed the Japanese

Corp. John Haley Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Phillips, and grandson of John B. Haley, of 407½ Clenmore Boulevard, who was wounded in the fighting against the Axis in North Africa, has recovered and returned to duty, word recently received by his parents states.

In the action in which he was wounded, his captain was killed and a lieutenant seriously wounded. He suffered a minor wound, and has returned to duty, having been transferred from the 18th Infantry with whom he served throughout the North African campaign, to a provisional guard unit.

In a recent letter to his mother, he enclosed several fine poems of his own composition, one entitled, "Someone," and the other, "The Reason Why," both of which are of exceptional merit.

Although he had been wounded on March 23, and had written home to his parents about it some time ago, notification was not received from the War Department until last week.

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, June 18.—Desperate new attemps by the Nazis to regain lost territory in the battle area northeast of the German base at Orel were crushed today by units of the Russian army.

Raids Behind Lines

In raids behind the fighting lines Soviet airmen concentrated their assaults of Nazi airdromes where at least 100 large fires were started. BANY OTHER RAIDS MADE BY ALLIES

By LEE VAN ATTA
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 18.—The Jap-controlled oil field at Port Boela on the occupied Netherlands East Indies island of Ceram was turned into a roaring mass of flames today as a result of direct bomb hits scored by allied heavy bombers.

Allied airmen who blasted the oil field situated more than 500 miles north of Port Darwin, Australia, reported that billowing clouds of smoke were streaming into the air to a height of 3,000 feet as they left the target.

The destructive raid on Port Boela was announced in a communique frorm headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur which disclosed heavy assaults on three important Jap airdromes in the island arc north of Australia.

Attack Jap Convoy

Medium bombers and attack planes at the same time joined in an attack on a convoy of 20 Jap barges off the Huon peninsula of New Guinea, destroying eight and damaging the remainder.

The Japs retaliated with two air raids on New Guinea. Eighteen enemy bombers escorted by 22 fighters attacked three native villages while four Jap bombers ineffectively raided Port Moresby, principal allied base in New Guinea. One of the latter planes, hit by anti-aircraft was last seen in flaming and losing altitude.

Fires visible for 40 miles were ignited by medium bombers in a night attack on the enemy airdrome Atlanggoer in the Kai islands, between western New Guinea and Australia. Numerous fires in dispersal areas indicated a heavy toll of grounded Japanese planes. Direct bomb hits silenced a Bofors gun and three heavy anti-aircraft batteries.

The Japanese airfield at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, was raided twice. Medium bombers and attack planes swept in at night and strafed the runway and adjacent supply dumps. A heavy bomber bombed the airdrome by day.

An airdrome at the Japanese base at Madang, New Guinea, was assaulted at dawn by medium bombers which bombed and strafed the flying field and adjacent areas. Moderate anti-aircraft fire was encountered but no enemy planes rose to meet the raiders.

WASHINGTON, June 18—Damage to only one American merchant ship and one landing barge was reported today by the Navy during the gigantic air battle over Guadalcanal in which U. S. pilots shot down 77 of 120 raiding Japanese planes.

The Navy also said that American losses in the great battle were six planes and that one pilot was rescued. U. S. personnel losses were placed at 25 killed, 29 injured, and 22 missing.

There was no explanation for the presence of the American ship and no substantiation of Japanese claims that enemy planes attacked an American convoy, and sank eight U. S. ships and damaged another.

The Japanese also stated that 32 American planes were shot down

'MITCHELL ISLANDS' NEW NAME PROPOSED FOR ALEUTIAN GROUP

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 18 — The Pittsburgh Aero club was on record today backing a suggestion to rename the Aleutian Islands in honor of the late General "Billy" Mitchell, who enthusiastically proclaimed the worth of air forces in wartime.

A resolution was unanimously adopted yesterday after a chance conversation of club members with John M. Phillips, industrial and civic leader, several days ago. Phillips recalled that General Mitchell had pointed out to him, while on a hunting trip in the Aleutians years ago, the strategic importance of that then little known string of islands, particularly Kiska.

Rumors Follow Brenner Pass Closing Edict

(International News Service)

Closing of the strategic Brenner Pass, narrow connecting link joining the twin major Axis powers of Europe, today highlighted a flood of reports which found their way out of Hitler's continental fortress and pointed up mounting unrest within those invasion-jittery nations.

Nazi authorities have prohibited all traffic from moving through the pass, apparently in preparation for evacuation from Italy of "industrial equipment, capital and other valuables," the Moscow radio reported in a broadcast heard by United States government monitors.

Giving "Berne quarters" as the source of its information, the broadcast pointed out that one contingent of Italians formerly employed in the Reich had returned to their homeland by way of Switzerland.

Other reports reaching London from Rome via Berne asserted that temporary dictatorial powers on the Italian home front have been usurped by Carlo Scorza, secretary of the Fascist party. These dispatches reported Scorza seized his new powers in the absence of any action by Benito Mussolini on Monday's nine-point memorandum from the Fascist directorate.

Meanwhile, possible sabotage was seen in a disastrous conflagration raging through the very center of

Youths Obey Curfew Law

No Violations Reported By Police On First Night Of New Law

Adoption of a 11 p. m. curfew ordinance for 17-year-olds and under proved beneficial, according to city officials today who stated that last night there were no persons apprehended, young folk apparently have come to a realization that police propose enforcing the new city law.

Where gangs of boys usually roved until the midnight hour none were to be seen last night and young girls were also conspicuous by not being in public places and public streets.

Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen stated that he had not received any reports of violations but added that this would not deter police from keeping a sharp vigil every night.

In speaking of the ordinance he fathered, Public Safety Director D. O. Davies said today:

"While I submitted the ordinance to prevent possible delinquency here the enforcement of the measure is up to the police department and I know that Mayor Charles B. Mayne and his chief will enforce it.

"However, without the sincere co-operation of parents or guardians

NEW YORK, June 18—The Brenner Pass between Germany and Italy has been closed to all traffic by Nazi authorities, the Moscow radio said today in a broadcast recorded by U. S. government monitors.

Border Between Turkey And Syria Is Reported Open

Ankara Dispatch Says Border Closed To Guard Troop Movements, Is Reopened

AXIS IS WORRIED OVER LIKELY MOVES

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 18.—The border between Turkey and Syria, closed by the British Tuesday to guard Allied Troop movements, has been reopened, a dispatch from Ankara said today as Axis quarters continued to express misgivings over possible developments in the Near East.

The dispatch from Ankara, carried by Reuter's news agency, said that the Turkish-Syrian border was reopened at 6 a. m. yesterday.

The report by the British agency followed a broadcast by the Berlin radio of an official German news agency dispatch stating that the barriers along the frontier had been let down and that the railway express to Tarsus from Syria was running normally again.

Rome Worried

Anxiety concerning what may be transpiring in Syria, where Britain's powerful ninth and tenth armies are concentrated, was expressed by the Rome radio which said that "large British forces are concentrating on the southern frontier of Turkey." There was no substantiation of this enemy reports that British troops were arrayed along the border.

Another Italian news agency dispatch which the Rome radio said came from Ankara asserted that coastal regions of Syria and Lebanon had been put under military control and that all civilians had been forbidden to cross the border.

The original closure apparently was undertaken to prevent Arabs in the pay of the Germans and Italians from crossing into Turkey to give information concerning the disposition of the British forces.

The News Chronicle today carried a dispatch from Istanbul by one of its correspondents who said he had crossed from Syria into Turkey on the last train allowed to go through prior to the closing of the frontier.

Tension In Cairo

The writer reported that a state of excited tension prevails in Cairo where the spirit of the British army is like that of a boxer about to go all out for the last round knowing that he will knock out his opponent.

Meanwhile Vice-Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of British combined operations (commandos), added to the uneasiness of the Axis

Six Fliers Killed As Bomber Crashes

(International News Service)

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 18.—An Army medium bomber crashed at Newton, N. J., last night and its crew of two flying officers and four enlisted men apparently were killed, the army announced today.

The plane, engaged in a routine flight, was en route to Stewart Field. Radio contact with the plane was lost 45 minutes before the crash, but the field made special provisions for an emergency landing.

First news of the crash came from an aircraft spotter at Newton, and was relayed to Stewart Field, at West Point, by the New York air defense wing. The plane burned after crashing, reports said.

Just now the yen is fishing and all that it implies, he tries it out so often that the fish line seldom dries. Reports Lend Some Support To Rumors Mussolini Physically Incapacitated

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 18—Reports reaching London today by way of Berne, Switzerland, from Rome said that Carlo Scorza, secretary of the Fascist party, had usurped temporary dictatorial powers on the Italian home front.

Scorza was said to have assumed the powers in the absence of any action by Premier Mussolini on Monday's nine-point memorandum from the Fascist directorate.

The advices from Rome said that semi-official quarters and newspapers tended to lend some credence to rumors that Mussolini might be physically incapacitated and unable to exercise his powers in directing the war.

The London Daily Telegraph carried a dispatch from "somewhere in Europe" which said the internal situation in Italy was so critical that Mussolini is preparing, to abolish, if necessary, the whole system of corporations by which the Fascists control the economic life of the nation.

airmen in the vicinity rushed in to fight heroically to save mail bags at the postoffice. Several of the soldiers were hurt or burned as they dashed through the flames to drag out the mail bags. Flames from the burning structure shot 60 feet into the air and the glare was visible for several miles.

Berlin, according to a broadcast by the Rome radio, had an alert during the night but there was no immediate report of Royal Air Force night activity over the continent.

Rome quoted an official Berlin announcement which said that there were "no casualties and no damage."

It was believed possible that the RAF had conducted intruder operations and may have sent speedy Mosquita bombers into the vicinity of the Reich capital. The official German news agency, DNB, interrupted its overseas radio transmissions at 1:43 a. m., stating that the transmitter was being shut down for "technical reasons".

Presence of the German craft over England caused the 651st alert of the war to be sounded in the capital. There was a short lull directly after the sirens wailed and then intermittent gunfire from anti-aircraft batteries in the suburbs was heard.

there will be approximately 36,000 bombers, 38,000 fighters, 12,000 transport planes and 9,000 training places." These are in addition to 27,000 planes for the navy for which appropriations have already been voted.

2. $11,512,000,000 to pay an armed force which will reach an enlisted strength of 6,500,000 by the end of this month and of 7,533,000 by the end of the year, at which level it will be maintained.

3. $6,411,000,000 for the quartermaster corps for clothing and equipage.

4. $7,992,000,000 for ordnance, $2,475,000,000 for the corps of engineers, $4,646,000,000 for the signal corps, and the balance for smaller units.

Sixteen Billion Larger

Compared to the appropriation voted last year, the measure is $16,217,000,000 greater; compared to budget estimates for this year, it represents a cut of $387,986,000. Concerning the cuts in the funds asked, the committee had this to say however:

"Not a dollar has been subtracted from an item that can be said would militate against the war effort."

In voting the chemical warfare service $1,154,000,000, the committee, taking cognizance of the possibility that gas may be employed said it was "determined that out own and Allied forces be completely ready should our enemies elect to engage in this diaboligal form of attack."

Only on one count did the report become critical of the army. The committee said it felt "that the armed service have acquired entirely too much land" and it wrote in a provisco requiring further acquisitions to be personally approved by the secretary of war.

Particularly singled out for praise were the WAACS, the committee offering "its unqualified endorsement of this organization" and its "condemnation in no uncertain terms of those who indulge in maligning this splendid group."

Speaking at the British naval officers' club in London, Lord Mountbatten said:

"The war cannot be brought to a successful conclusion unless allied armies are put ashore in Europe to get to grips with the enemy on his own ground.

"The British, American and French armies, having beaten the enemy in North Africa, have absolutely nowhere else that they can go to fight unless they come to the 'Combined Operations Steamship company' and apply for tickets."

NEED HUGE SUM TO FEED WORLD WHEN WAR ENDS

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars to help feed and economically rehabilitate the war wrecked areas of the world today is being planned by the American government as insurance against chaos and anarchy after this war.

Arrangements are now being made to hold a general United Nations conference in Washington this summer to reach a joint understanding of the methods for distributing relief in the territories liberated by the allied armies.

The American plan which will be presented to the conference envisages joint aid to help put the war-torn nations back on their feet economically so that the wheels of world trade can start functioning again and another depression can be avoided.

Herbert H. Lehman, director of the American office of foreign relief and rehabilitation, admits that it is going to cost the taxpayer a lot of money to carry out the plan, but he believes it will prove a highly beneficial investment in the long run lost ground in the bulge smashed into their positions north of Orel, had sent fresh detachments into action.

Two strong attacks were reported, but in each the Germans were thrown back after suffering heavy losses in both manpower and equipment.

Nazi Attacks Weaken

Battlefront reports said that the Nazi attacks had weakened considerably because of the severe losses the Germans have sustained since Sunday.

One unofficial report placed the total of Nazis killed in the Orel sector so far this week at between 2,000 and 3,000.

During last night, the high command reported at noon, Nazi scouts on the central front west of Moscow attempted to penetrate into Russian defenses but were repelled after the defenders inflicted heavy losses.

In the area of Sevsk, west of Kursk on the southern front south of Orel, a company of German troops was said to have been wiped out.

Northwest of Moscow on the Leningrad front Soviet artillery partly annihilated two companies of Nazi infantry and smashed 12 dugouts.

Several dozen troops were killed in hand-to-hand fighting when Soviet troops penetrated into enemy lines on the northwestern front. Several attempts of the Nazis to regain the lost trenches failed.

RUMORS FOLLOW BRENNER PASS CLOSING EDICT

Rome itself. The Nazi-controlled Vichy radio, in a broadcast heard in London by Reuter's News Agency, reported that the big central market of the Italian capital city was ablaze with "a great fire," but gave no further details. Observers saw in the fire a probable manifestation of the inhabitants' dissatisfaction with the Fascist regime and the course of the war.

The Berlin radio told of the battering the Italian islands are taking as the inhabitants, nervously anticipating an invasion thrust, flee to "safer" localities.

The Nazi announcer admitted that air assaults on the Island of Sardinia had caused a mass evacuation of the populace. Cagliari, the island's capital, has seen its population dwindle from a total of 100,000 to less than 7,000, the broadcast said.

The Italians also were having their hands full in trying to hold the Yugoslavs in check. A Budapest radio broadcast recorded by Reuter's said that Italian occupation forces used more than 200 planes and dropped 75 tons of bombs in an attempt to smash a six-weeks' siege by Slav patriots at Gispic in the Luka district.

Frank Teets of 603 County Line street handed to Pa Newc an unusually large moth, which is on display on the office counter of the New Castle News. Mr. Teets found the creature in a puddle of water near his home, evidently precipitated to the ground from a nearby tree by a heavy shower of rain. This is an imperial moth, with body and wings colored yellow and brown, considered a handsome looking American moth, whose rough hairy larvae feeds on the hickory and related trees. It often attains a width of five inches from tip of wing to wing. This moth's wings have not yet entirely unfolded, and it has laid a number of eggs in the glass jar which encloses it.

FRESH MAJOR PACIFIC BATTLES BELIEVED NEAR

after shooting down at least 77 of the raiding planes at a loss of only six U. S. planes.

Japs Continue Efforts

Despite a string of crushing defeats in recent weeks, the Japanese high command appeared determined to strike crippling air blows against American sky power in the Guadalcanal area, a possible U. S. invasion "springboard."

Although conservative Navy men have warned that the Japanese might strike again at American outposts, all developments recently pointed to massing of American sea and air forces for another assault against some important enemy base.

American Army, Navy and Marine fighter pilots have shot down approximately 150 Jap aircraft in a series of large scale air battles since June 1. Official reports showed 142 Jap planes destroyed and 18 damaged and probably shot down.

Greatest Sky Battle

The June 16th air battle ranks with the greatest sky engagements of the Pacific and was the worst defeat suffered by the enemy in a single engagement between land-based planes.

Japanese plane losses were greater in sea-air engagements but many of those were destroyed by auti-aircraft fire from carriers and warships.

In the Coral sea battle, the Japs lost more than 100 planes, in the battle of Santa Cruz 156 and at Midway an estimated 275. Part of those losses also were due, however, to destruction of aircraft carriers.

During the entire Solomons campaign, which began with the American capture of Guadalcanal last August, nearly 1,400 Jap planes have been reported destroyed.

While specific figures on American plane losses were not available, officials have estimated that U. S. pilots have maintained a destruction ration of five-to-one throughout the campaign.

Newspapers Get Further Cut In Use Of Newsprint

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The War Production Board today revealed that newspaper industry advisory committee has recommended that newspaper publishers reduce their use of newsprint by an additional five per cent in the third quarter of this year.

The committee, which met yesterday with WPB representatives, also urged that publishers reduce their inventories to a 50-day supply, with certain regional exceptions.

The newsprint cut, it urged, should not include the first 25 tons per quarter used by publishers of papers which do not consume more than 500 tons per quarter.

Purpose of this exemption, it was explained, is to "accommodate the smaller papers and it applies only to them." The representatives of larger papers agreed at the meeting to forego this exemption.

The proposed cut would amount to approximately five per cent, because the recommendation calls for a sliding scale of cuts in percentages beyond those in effect on Jan. 1. Users of 25 tons per quarter would not be cut at all, those using 50 tons would be cut 2.5 per cent; 75 tons, 3.33 per cent; 100 tons, 3.75 per cent; 200 tons, 4.33 per cent; 300 tons, 4.60 per cent; 400 tons, 4.70 per cent; 500 tons, 4.80 per cent; above 500 tons, 5 per cent.

WPB officials pointed out that they had originally urged newspaper publishers to cut newsprint consumption by 10 per cent. However, the average cut thus far, they maintained, has only been about 4.8 per cent, and the new cut will bring the reduction in newsprint use to the required 10 per cent.

ITALY'S WAY OUT

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S appeal to the Italian people to throw off the yoke of Mussolini, adopt a civilized form of government and become a respected member of the family of nations has gone unanswered. But it constitutes excellent war-time psychology, nevertheless.

The Italian people are under the heel of Nazism, aided and abetted by a subservient Fascism. Like the people of France, they would be unable to take direct action even if they desired to do so. But receipt of the President's plea via short wave radio, leaflets dropped from the sky and other methods cannot fail to make a deep impression upon them, paving the way for things to come.

One by one, Italy's outposts in the Mediterranean are being seized. The imperial dream, nurtured by the Italian dictator in the bygone days of balcony strutting, has long since disappeared. What is left to fight for?

Allied air supremacy in the Mediterranean area has been demonstrated so convincingly that the Italian people must see the supreme folly of following Fascist leadership to the bitter end. If they were in a position to do so without being shot by the German intruders, they might accept the inevitable and toss Mussolini to the fishes.

Three years ago, Prime Minister Churchill remarked that Italy's troubles are attributable to "one man and one man alone." But the Italian people are not guiltless, because they countenanced this dictator for more than 20 years and followed him in wild enthusiasm when he started on a course of murder and conquest. But it was good strategy to let the Italians know that only through the overthrow of Mussolini and his entourage can Italy hope to re-enter the family of nations.

REVOLT AT 90 ABOVE

It may be a manifestation of underlying social unrest, or perhaps it's merely a desire to keep cool in a period when other factors besides the weather make keeping cool all but impossible. The causes must be left to the sociologists and the weather bureau. It is enough to record that those slacks, disdained by the girl stenographers of the Ford plant, have been adopted by male clerks in the government at Washington.

They—the clerks, that is—have organized the "Brotherhood of Sensible Men," and who shall say they aren't? Their laudable aim is to air condition masculine attire and more timid brothers, shrinking from so revolutionary a step, applaud their temerity from a discreet distance.

The shackles have been stricken off, or at least those white collars, neckties and coats in which office workers swelter and stifle during hot weather. A salute to the brotherhood! May the cooling-off period extend to suffering masculinity everywhere, and slacks and shirts become the uniform of clerks, courage and comfort.

Only one cautious note obtrudes. If the white-collar class divests itself of white collars, what word shall hard-pressed economists use in future to describe this collarless white-collar class?

REAL TEST OF AIR POWER

Winston Churchill's recent statement that air power will be given a thorough test to determine whether it can win a war is made impressive by the current air attacks on Sicily. Several small Mediterranean islands have fallen without infantry invasion. The devastating flying guns are turned now on bigger game.

It is not certain that large and well defended territory can be forced to surrender by the application of air power alone. But the accounts of those captured on the islands which have been forced to surrender suggest that air power of the magnitude that the Allies have built up may be able to deliver more than the human system can stand. Warring countries have always feared plagues. Perhaps shell shock is to sweep bombed populations more devastatingly than any disease germ.

There is no longer doubt that the Allies have the greatest offensive machine ever assembled. Hitherto the chief offensive devices have been naval blockade and infantry invasion, the infantry getting into decisive action after the navy has weakened the enemy sufficiently. In this conflict the Allies have added to naval blockade, which withholds supplies from the enemy, the new factor of air power which smashes his domestic means of making war.

With industries, transport and ports shattered, it would seem to follow that infantry in the final act of the war would have an easier job than the foot soldier encountered in past wars following naval blockade alone.

America and Britain are giving that theory a thorough trial. Russia is adopting it enthusiastically on the eastern front. Allied leaders are convinced that it will work. If so, the proof may not be long in making its appearance.

TOJO PROMISES AND THREATENS

Premier Tojo, who plays with the truth like a child with a toy and twists it to his uses, has made his long-heralded speech to the Japanese Diet, filled with the usual bombast.

It seems that the wiping out of the Attu garrison was really a strategic victory for Japan. Tojo called to his aid Admiral Shimada, to tell of the enormous quantities of Allied aircraft and shipping destroyed by Nippon's might. The inflated figures, bearing no resemblance to the facts contained in Allied communiques, may be dismissed with a smile.

Tojo's promise of "complete independence" for the Philippines this year piques curiosity as to why he felt impelled to tell such a whopper. For there can never be independence for any people so long as they are under the Japanese barbarians' yoke.

The only new thing in Tojo's tirade, aside from his prediction that the Japanese mainland will be raided, is his declaration of Japan's determination to help India "to expel and eliminate Anglo-Saxon influences."

The ever-present threat to India may have been increased by Tojo's tacit recognition that Australia is no longer so good a target since Prime Minister Curtins' forthright declaration of confidence in its ability to repel invasion.

But we now know that one of the fruits of the Washington Allied conference was the resolve to extend still more substantial aid to the British forces in India, and that the Southwest Pacific situation is not being overlooked while the Allies are preparing to launch their invasion of Europe.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SHOPLIFTING INCREASES AMONG YOUTHS

IN WIDELY scattered centers of population throughout our nation, I have been talking with mayors, heads of police departments, judges of juvenile court, welfare workers and school authorities about delinquent children and youths and I have participated in conferences and discussions on the subject. Moreover, like yourself, I have been reading the papers.

Among the things one learns is that children, especially those over 10 or 12 are more often late at school or absent; more of them are left at home or on the street while both parents are away by day or night; more children under 12 or 14 are pilfering or mutilating property; more of them out after dark. More girls from 10 to 14 are violating common social conventions, frequenting places where older boys or men congregate, with the obvious consequence. There are more children with fabulous amounts of money on their person; more parents who either don't try to control and protect their children or who say they can't.

Shoplifting Among Children

From all I can gather, this moral disintegration is occurring at all social, economic and educational levels, with the rate of increase, apparently, higher at the higher levels.

As one example, a police chief in a very comfortable residential suburb, told me recently that shoplifting had doubled in that city in two years. Practically none of the offenders stole because of poverty. Pilfering by children in stores has been appallingly prevalent for some years, throughout the nation. Just one of the products of the doctrine that children should not be disciplined by restraints lest their personalities be warped.

Over six years, I have been asking at the neighborhood stores in the choicest economic areas of cities and suburbs throughout the United States about youngsters from 5 to 13 who come in there unaccompanied by their parents. Practically everywhere the response has been, "They are terrible. Either they snatch things or render them unsalable." Some clerks have added, "When I call up the parent to complain I lose a good customer."

While you and I regret the loss by the merchant, our chief concern is the loss to the character of these children.

Let me entreat good parents to strive harder to train their children in early years to respect the rights and possessions of others. They might get some help from my bulletin "How to Teach Tot Meaning of NO," to be had for postage, by writing me at 235 East 45th St., New York, City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. I wonder if you could give me some advice on how to help my baby play with other children.

A. As soon as your child can toddle, get him with other children about his age, one at a time for a while, more later. The nursery school, even the infants department of the Sunday school affords good opportunity for group contacts. But do not expect much cooperation with other children at play for a few years. Only gradually does social interest and ability grow. So long as one child does not endanger another let them alone to work out their own problems of social adjustments, except to persuade them to take turns and the like.

Q. Do you have any special helps for parents on fears in children of school age?

A. Yes; I have a special bulletin on fears covering various ages, to be had without cost to you by writing me at 235 East 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

BIRD AND MAN

Topmost upon a blossomy tree
A cardinal looked down at me
And said: (or did I fancy so?)
"No sign of happiness you show.
There's beauty 'round you everywhere.
Yet past it all you seem to stare.
I sing because I'm glad to be
Alive and on this lovely tree,
But you, with greater cause for song,
Sit there in silence all day long."

"Your world," said I, "is all complete.
Your instinct tells you life is sweet.
But past such care as food and drink,
You need not lie awake to think.
You do not war with great machines
Or pin your hopes on submarines.
Your fields are never strewn with dead,
Your skies are gentle overhead.
Your days are free from all the woe
Which mortals force themselves to know.

"While men engage in cruel strife
You sing the rapturous joy of life!
While men themselves and earth debase,
You find the world a wondrous place.
Your song proclaims that life is good,
That peace is sweet in yonder wood.
Sing on, you happy cardinal,
And let your music shame us all!
Sing on, blithe minstrel of the tree!
Would men as grateful learn to be."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:31. Sun rises tomorrow 5:30.

If you know how to pay the new taxes you can make a lot of money by telling other people how to pay them.

A successful man is one who did not have the advantages others had and so he had to work for a living.

We don't blame some people for wanting to give away their dog. Even their neighbors are pleased.

The Democrats want a plank in their 1944 platform that is dry on one side and wet on the other.

PERT AND PERTINENT

"Actions are supposed to reveal a person's character."—But the fellow who acts smart often isn't.

"Storks in Denmark, one of their favorite haunts, are said to be rapidly diminishing in number."—Sure, they are too busy making non-stop flights to the homes of war brides on this side of the pond so they haven't the time nor inclination to stay on "occupied territory".

"Congress certainly ought to do something for the poor farmer..."—It doesn't need to do anything for the good farmer.

"One fifth of the cost of an automobile is in the engine."—And the rest is in the back seat.

It is claimed that quarreling among the Germans in Germany is hindering their war efforts . . . That isn't helping us much in this country either.

"Well, things could be worse," says Optimistic Olive, "just suppose you were someone else."

Women are now being employed as life guards at some swimming pools. That will make some men yell that they are drowning.

All of which reminds me of a story about a soldier at an English hotel who said to the man sitting across from him: "Say, will you be kind enough to pass the butter?"

The man spoken to stared in a blank manner as if insulted and finally said in an offended tone: "That's the waiter over there, sir."

"I beg your pardon," apologized the Yankee with a smile, "you must excuse me...this is my first trip to England...I'm a stranger to your customs...I made a mistake."

This riled the Englishman even more and he exclaimed "Sir! You add insult! Nothing can induce me to believe for one moment that you mistook me for the waiter!"

"Oh, nor, sir," replied the Yank quietly, but cunningly "I mistook you for a gentleman."

Desire prompts all that we do. If a man nurses a grudge, it is because he enjoys doing it.

The hand of the law is now likely to touch on any shoulder.

It is claimed that over two millions of American soldiers have been sent overseas to fight the enemy in the dictator countries.

A baseball player is the only type of individual that we know of who gets paid for taking things as they come.

Some people would be in a terrible fix if the right to talk was banned.

The only time we are surprised at what some birds do is when they do the right thing.

Every flood disaster, such as those recently experienced in Illinois and Indiana bring forth liberal charity donations in response to the wants of the sufferers. In Beardstown, an old darky appealed to the Red Cross telling the woman in charge that he had lost everything he had in the world, including his wife and six children.

The woman looked at him keenly, then asked: "Haven't I seen you before? Weren't you the colored man who told me you had lost your wife and six children in the Paris flood?"

"Yassum," replied the darky honestly, "dat was me. Most unfortunate man dat eber wuz. Can't keep a family nohow."

A lady had just purchased a stamp. "Must I stick it on myself?" she asked.

"Do as you like, Madam," the clerk courteously replied, "but you'll probably accomplish more if you stick it on the envelope."

The only kind of strikes we like to hear of is when our army strikes the enemy.

Did you ever in the past hear of people advertising that they could not take care of all the business offered them?

In some places state highway trucks are being offered to help the farmers with their work. Reasonable!

CHILD TRAINING

"I want to give my young daughter a thorough education in the rules of etiquette so that she will have a proper foundation for a social career. Are there any schools or special courses giving such training?"—Peter F.

Answer: Almost all fashionable 'finishing schools' so-called, offer such courses. But the foundations for such an education should be laid at home by parental example. Begin by showing her mother, in her (the child's) presence, every courtesy that you wish her to expect from men—such as helping her on and off with her coat, pulling out her chair when she takes her place at or leaves the table, opening doors for her, speaking gently to her at all times. Similarly her mother should, by example, teach her the social graces necessary to the proper reception and entertainment of guests, the treatment of servants, social correspondence, appropriate clothes for social occasions, also the technique of pronunciation and vocal control.

And both parents should combine in setting her a good example by efraining, especially within her hearing, from quarrels, heated arguments, criticisms or even flashes of impatience. With such guidance, a developing girl needs no special course. If a text book on etiquette is to be used at the present stage, her parents should study it in private and impart its rules to her by example rather than by lecturing.

Question: What are appropriate gifts for a 22nd wedding anniversary?—Every-Day Reader.

Answer: The 22nd anniversary has no particular significance so you may give anything that may be enjoyed by both the bride and the groom.

Question: I have received an announcement of a small wedding to which only close friends were invited and announcements sent to acquaintances. Does this require a gift?—Mrs. W W.

Answer: No. Announcements require no gifts, nor any reply whatsoever.

REWARD FOR BREVITY

These are busy days, and our medicos are rushed. One of them is a very taciturn man, feeling he can handle more cases if he doesn't engage in long-winded talks with patients. One day a woman called at his office.

"Burn?" he asked.
"Bruise," said she.
"Poultice," said he, and she left.
Next day she was back.
"Better?" he asked.
"Worse," said she.
"More poultice," said he.
The following day she returned.
"Better?" he asked.
"Cured," she said. "Fee?"
"No fee," said the doctor. "Most sensible woman I ever saw."

Even steaks are tougher now than they ever were.

Golf games seem to be going on just the same in some places. Last Sunday a farmer was seen working in his field next to a golf club with many players on it.

It's a good idea for people not to buy from peddlers they do not know and who are from out of town. That's a good way to get skinned.

WHAT HE NEEDED

In court the other day a defendant appeared without an attorney.

"Would you like a lawyer to defend you?" asked the judge.

"I don't think so," the defendant answered. "But if you can find me a couple of good witnesses I'd sure appreciate it."

More often than not, a wife is responsible for her husband's success because of the necessity of the money she makes it imperative for him to earn.

When millions of our men are willing to give their lives to save our country, we surely should do all we can to help them and to get them back home again.

One thing about our foreign relations policy is that there are so many who qualify as poor relations.

The two things that cover the greatest multitude of sins are charity and "war conditions."

Roosevelt says we are entering a phase of the war when confusion must stop. Was it all right up to now?

The power of advertising isn't new. Many a man has become great by having the right biographer.

If anybody can stand prosperity, we think the farmer can do it. He has stood nearly everything else.

At last we have a man to manage the war. Roosevelt always does what is necessary, if you give him sixteen months.

The proper measure of any person is the quality of the people he boasts of knowing.

We suppose there is more time given to sinning than to repenting.

Life-Time rule for news pictures: Find the worst possible examples and present them as typical.

COMING AND GOING

A conversation of something like this sometimes is heard in hotels and cafes:

Diner: "You charged me twice as much for this steak as you used to."

Proprietor: "I have to. The price of steak has gone up."

Diner. "But the steak is smaller than it used to be."

Proprietor: "Of course. The scarcity of beef, you know."

It's got so you can't remember whether a law was made by Congress or by the man appointed by the President.

Questions Communistic Trait In Spain
Violent Outbreaks Occurred Far Back
Franco's Country Is Important Factor

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 18.—One of my readers questions a statement of mine recently, to the effect that Spain is a pretty Communistic country. He does not exactly deny what I said, but remarks that it is news to him, and adds that he would like to know the source of my information.

The fact is that Spain has been characterized by a wide streak of radicalism since away back in monarchist days.

As an American newspaper correspondent in Europe quite a while before World War I, I frequently was summoned, in hot haste, from my headquarters in London, to "cover" Red outbreaks in Spanish cities. Then is when I got my original information on the subject of peninsular politics. I got it at first hand. One of those commotions, in Barcelona, didn't fall far short of civil war.

True, the "insurrectos" didn't call themselves Communists in that era. They described themselves as Anarchists, but the distinction was rather loose.

To contend that the Spaniards are 100 per cent Communistic now would be ridiculous, of course. I doubt that even the Russians are. Conservatives linger everywhere.

Indeed, I am skepical that, in a popular election, Spain would give anything but middle-ground majority—or straddle.

The substantial "weight," though, is demoncratic.

The Madrid government, nevertheless, is the other way.

It remains in the monarchial past. It calls itself a republic, but it isn't.

It is like Germany, with a fuehrer. Or like Italy, with a duce. Its boss is a caudillo—Generalissimo Francisco Franco. He isn't 1 per cent in Adolf Hitler's class. He probably isn't 10 per cent in Benito Mussolini's.

He just squeaked in against an adverse majority.

He was not sure it was adverse, but he took a chance—to become a dictator.

His countrymen fought him. It is agreed that, left to himself, he would have lost out.

The democracies ought to have helped him.

They didn't hump themselves to do it. Hitler and Mussolini did. They gave him the support he needed, and he got himself, at least temporarily, entrenched.

His country is all right, but his organization is a pest.

The gent who questions me wants to be told—

Didn't Russia give as much aid to the Spanish Communists as the Nazis and the Italian Fusionists did?

The answer is—

No, the Russians didn't. Neither did the rest of the democracies.

They were too busy elsewhere.

It will be worth their while to reckon with Spain in connection with the coming invasion of Europe.

Latin American figures in the equation, too.

Spain is no inconsiderable factor over here, let alone its bearing across the water.

Our Latin-American republics count materially in our reckonings.

And they have their reaction in Spain.

There is considerable talk to the effect that it is a handy country as a landing place.

It doesn't follow that it is Communistic, though.

I do think it is Russo-Spanish, but it is a queer combination.

They do not mix.

Or do they? I would like to get them together.

You have to compare them.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
(International News Service Staff Writer)

Well if Mussolini's gang is through with those black shirts we can use 'em.

Laundry service is down to an if-when-and-maybe basis and the new national color is tattle-tale grey.

Only this week the New York City council voted to investigate Mayor LaGuardia. They're trying to find out where he's getting clean, white shirts.

Science has been working for years on the theory of heavy air but Brooklyn has solved it in three weeks.

There are 75,000 families in the borough who haven't had any laundry service at all for that length of time.

The laundries are trying to get a ruling that they are engaged in an essential industry but the best the government will do is agree that a man can get clean for business reasons.

He mustn't get starched and ironed for his friends and family.

If this keeps up New Yorkers no longer will be aloof. They will be untouchable.

A stranger will know the town even before he sees the high buildings.

Thought for the day: The government says we are getting filthy rich and this time they're half right.

A war correspondent complains that men just flown to Africa had to sleep on the floor. That should get a laugh from the boys in wet foxholes.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A young lady wrote to a great authority on etiquette the other day and asked her:

"We have a service flag in our window with two stars, one for my brother, one for my brother-in-law.

"Is it permissible to add another for my boy-friend? We are engaged, but the announcement has not been officially made."

The great authority on etiquette replied:

"Each star added is generally for a member of the family. If your engagement were announced officially, this would bring him into your family. But not otherwise."

Stuff and nonsense, I say to the young lady. Of course, add another star to the service flag!

You love the boy, or you wouldn't be engaged to him.

You think of him, you miss him, you yearn for his return, don't you?

Isn't he just as dear to you as your brother-in-law?

Isn't your heart as good an arbiter of what's proper as a printed sheet of paper announcing the engagement?

Etiquette, as far as I am concerned, is nothing but good manners.

Good manners should be as natural as good character.

All the books on etiquette in the world don't make you a gracious hostess, a pleasant companion, a good wife, unless you have the necessary qualifications in your heart.

The real meaning of the word "etiquette" is label. In other words if you are labelled a lady or a gentleman you have etiquette?

I know people who know the exact use of every fork or spoon, of every glass and plate at the table. I wouldn't trust them out of my sight.

I know others who think nothing of taking a chicken leg up with their fingers or cutting lettuce with their knife. I wouldn't lose their friendship for anything.

Etiquette is a swell thing—don't get me wrong. If we didn't have it we might all make hogs of ourselves.

But a hog in evening clothes is still a hog, even if it kisses every lady's hand and uses a finger bowl.

You put that other star in your service flag, girl—and may he come back to you safely.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THE RICH UNCLE.

Uncle Sam has had the reputation for a long time of being a very rich Uncle. The South Americans refer to Uncle Sam as "The Colossus of the North." The ruling powers of Great Britain—Mr. Churchill being the spokesman—no doubt have been planning, and have been continually planning or plotting, whichever word you wish to use, to work Uncle Sam for no end of billions.

Well, Uncle Sam for several years now has been imitating the Prodigal Spendthrift and judging from what has been able to be deduced from the doings of the Food Conference just ended, it would appear that there are forty odd nephews of Uncle Sam who planned at that conference to work their Uncle for their daily food after the war, to say nothing about food and munitions during the progress of the war.

The newspapers on June third did carry what was said to be an extract from the keynote speech by Judge Marvin Jones, at the close of the conference:

"By winning security from hunger for all men, we shall win security for free men, from the rise and aggression of tyrants.

"By winning freedom from want, we shall make all men strong enough to be free."

Now, if that does not indicate what has been thought all along to be the purposes of the New Deal in holding such a conference of the forty-four nations, I miss my guess. For a long time Vice President Wallace has been talking about a post war world, where every human, civilized, half-civilized, or just plain Barbarian, should have a quart of milk a day. The purpose of the New Deal to keep on their spendthrift spending for the alleged good all mankind has been very patent.

The invitation to the Food Conference extended to forty odd nations was an invitation to "step up" and make the proper arrangements to obtain food and munitions at the expense of their Uncle.

Greater Garden Effort Is Urged

Victory Gardeners Have Vital Role In Nation At This Time Is Emphasized

By JANE COCHRAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 18—Middlewestern floods and their destructions of thousands of acres of the country's food supply have made a national hero out of the man with the hoe—the nation's victory gardener.

His redoubling of his efforts now—instead of leaning back and proudly surveying the results of his work—will mean the difference between empty shelves and food on the table this winter, Paul Stark, president of the National Victory Garden Institute declared today.

Stark, prominent Louisiana, Mo., nurseyman, and brother of the ex-governor of Missouri, Lloyd Stark, has just completed a tour of the food producing middlewestern states and a series of conferences with agricultural authorities in Washington.

"The food situation is serious, critical, and will become more so this winter," Stark said. "The nation now has 20,000,000 victory gardens and they will produce at least a billion dollars worth of essential food.

"However, this is not enough in the face of the present food shortage and the serious damage to commercial crops. Through enlarged gardens and repeated plantings in these 20,000,000 victory gardens this year, it is believed that 20 per cent more home food can be obtained. This will mean an additional $200,000,000 worth of war-needed food that will be added to the national food supply."

Says Price-Fixing Will Lead U. S. To 'Ghastly Tragedy'

Dairymen's Head Terms OPA 'Definitely Anti-Farmer' In New York Address

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 18.—Attacking the Office of Price Administration as "definitely anti-farmer," President Fred H. Sexauer of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association on Thursday said governmental food price fixing has "all the elements of a national scandal and the making of a ghastly tragedy".

Addressing a meeting of some 600 members of the association, Sexauer said that "food is more important than the theories of those who want to remake the world" and added:

"Regulations of farmers' milk prices has become a political football. The OPA began with bias, discrimination and a persecution complex.

"Apparently acting on the assumption that every American citizen is dishonest, they have created such a tangled mess of the economic life of the nation that it is doubtful that it can be untangled without a shock more disruptive than the conditions they tried to correct.

Sexauer charged that the "threat of inflation" is being used to induce the nation to accept social reform, regimentation and limitation of opportunity and initiative and added:

"Before the war ends it will be used to hide mistakes and conceal the sad state of economic affairs."

Council today stated that the Service Men's bulletin board which was to have been put on the public square was turned over to the American Legion and V. F. W. Plans have been prepared and it is hoped that the board will be erected soon as possible, many other cities and the county having erected their boards some time ago.

Announcement of Chief of Police W. G. McMullen that he believes a 11 p. m. curfew whistle to notify 17 yer-olds and under, to be in their homes to escape examination for violation of the 11 p. m. "at home" law, is worthwhile. Without cooperation of parents the ordinance may suffer jolts. However, city officials intend to enforce the law to prevent delinquency.

Another bee complaint reached city hall today. A boy on the East Side was attacked and one side of his face is swollen considerably. Public Safety D. O. Davies today assigned Inspector Chauncey Davis to investigate the affair. It is possible to secure a permit to keep bees but they must be controlled, otherwise the bee hives must be removed.

Reveal Plan For U. S. Taking Over Free Enterprise

David Ginsburg's Confidential Files Show Elaborate Government Program

BROWN DENIES CHARGE OF PROFIT CONTROL

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Smith committee investigating government bureaus was informed on Thursday that confidential files taken from the home of David Ginsburg, former OPA general counsel, disclosed an elaborate program "to bring the entire American system of free enterprise under government control and domination."

Harold Allen, the committee's counsel, declared that nine boxes of secret memoranda taken from Ginsburg's home in Huntington, W. Va., after he had removed them from his OPA office upon entering the army, showed that "under the guise of wartime price control, the OPA is seeking to bring the entire American industrial system under bureaucratic control."

"The implications of the authority assumed by the OPA," Allen stated, "are so startling that it is only necessary to indicate that they constitute an attempt to bring the entire system of free enterprise under government domination by the exercise of a price fixing mechanism, intended by congress only to prevent wartime inflation."

Profits Not OPA Field

A statement on behalf of OPA Administrator Prentiss Brown, and read by Henry Hart, Jr., an OPA aide, denied Allen's charges.

"The OPA has no program with respect to the reduction of profits, as such," Brown's statement said. "It has been granted no authority by congress to control the profits of individual concerns. It has not been directed by the president to do so. It has never sought to do so. In the very nature of the case it would not be able to do so."

Contradictory Evidence

Allen told the committee that he discovered this "program to regulate profits" in a file marked "profits" and that data contained there in was labeled variously "strictly confidential" and "confidential for office use only". Contending that this was contrary to the price control act, Allen said:

"The present policy of the OPA reverses the procedure and, by distorting the intent and purposes of congress expressed in the statute, uses the price fixing mechanism to control profits and redistribute them instead of using them to prevent inflation. This it does, even where prices have either risen or threatened to rise and where there is no danger of any inflationary runaway.

Based On OPA Whim

"The confidential policy-making OPA memoranda and correspondence which have come to the attention of the committee's counsel first established a criterion of unreasonable and exhorbitant profits solely on the basis of the uncontrolled discretion or whim of the price administrator.

"These criteria are directed to be used by the price-making staff of the OPA not in fixing general price levels, but only in reducing them. 'It deals,' does the memorandum, 'solely with the question of price reductions.'

"These price reductions are not for the purpose of establishing equitable and fair price levels or to prevent inflation, but solely for the purpose of bringing the American profit system under bureaucratic control."

Under Presidential Order

The policy was decided upon, according to Allen, after President Roosevelt issued an executive order based on his interpretation of amendments to the law passed by congress last Ostober. The order, based upon the same section of the revised law as the one which the president issued an order fixing salaries at a $25,000 maximum—since repealed by congress—directed the price administrator in fixing prices to do so in such a manner as to 'prevent profits which in his judgment are unreasonable or exorbitant'," according to Allen.

HARRISBURG PUPILS TAKE NO VACATION

Federal Furs To Open New Store

Grand Opening Of Up-To-Date Fur Store Will Take Place On Saturday

Announcement was made today by Roy J. Strasberg, owner, of the opening of Federal Furs, one of the most modern fur stores in this section of the country, which will be located in the newly remodeled quarters at 203-205 East Washington street.

The grand opening will take place on Saturday morning, and in addition to Mr Strasberg, many notables will be present for the dedication, which will be ushered in with a style show, when some of the rarest and latest models of fur garments which the firm will feature here will be displayed. Souvenirs will be given all women on opening day.

The new quarters have been handsomely remodeled and will present an interior only equalled by the most modern metropolitan stores. Mr. Strasberg has been engaged in the fur garment business for 30 years, and will bring to New Castle the benefit of his wide experience. He is bringing to New Castle, Louis Fox, formerly connected with one of New York's modern fur stores.

Elmer Davis Denies OWI Quarrel Rumor

Report Motion Picture Bureau Head, Friend Of FDR, To Be Dismissed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—OWI Director Elmer Davis Thursday denied that his own house was divided among itself or that he has fought with another top-ranking OWI official.

"That's news to me," he told a news conference.

The report had stated that Davis had quarreled with a top-ranking OWI official, who is closer to the White House than Davis; that one of two OWI leaders will have to leave the information agency, and that a major blow-up in OWI could be expected.

Davis was asked if he "proposed to dispense with the services of Lowell Mellett," who is head of the OWI's motion picture bureau, former chief of the office of government reports, and reputed to be a close friend of President Roosevelt.

"I don't know," Davis replied.

He explained that, under a cut made in OWI's budget by the appropriations committee this week, the motion picture bureau probably will suffer greatly.

"I don't know," Davis stated, "if Mellett would want to stay under such a set-up".

Australia has started a campaign to discourage luxury spending.

Partial List Of Books On United Nations Given Out

Library Urges Reading As Factor In Forming Public Opinion For Post-War Plans

Part of the public library's cooperation with the local and nation-wide celebration in honor of the United Nations concept is the listing and exhibit of books about our allies. These books tell the stories of the United Nations. They are chosen from a list called "Together we Stand" prepared by the library committee of the council on books in wartime, many of which are in the library and others are being purchased, according to announcement made by Miss Alice Sterling, librarian.

Representatives at the peace conference, when it convenes, will be conditioned in their mental concepts and actions by the great body of public opinion in this country. That means yours and John's and Mary Smith's and mine. So that public opinion may be informed and fair, you and John and Mary and I must know as much as we can. We can get most of this knowledge from books about our history and conditions and those of our allies, the United Nations. Reading at least some of these books is one thing we can do to raise the common denominator of intelligence about public affairs.

Too long to print in its entirety, the list contains, among others, the following books which are available at the library. Ask to see the entire list.

"Introducing Australia," C. H. Grattan.

"Albert of Belgium, Defender of Right," Emile Cammaerts.

"The St. Lawrence," Henry Beston.

"All We Are and All We Have: Speeches and Messages Since Pearl Harbor," Chiang Kai-Shek.

"We Shall Live Again," Maurice Hindus.

"Denmark," Agnes Rothery.

"Hell-hole of Creation," L. M. Nesbitt.

"Combined Operations: The Official Story of the Commandos," H. St. George Saunders.

"My India, My America," K. J. Shridharani.

"A Latin American Speaks," Luis Quintanilla.

"Brazil Under Vargas," Karl Loewenstein.

"The Caribbean; The Story of Our Sea of Destiny," W. A. Roberts.

"I Saw the Fall of the Philippines," C. P. Romulo.

"The Russians, the Land, the People, and Why They Fight," A. R. Williams.

Large Cache Of WPA Materials Idle In Storage

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 18.—A vast cache of priority prohibited materials left over from the WPA days—including everything from motor trucks to picks and shovels—lies rotting and rusting in the WPA defunct storage yard in Corona, L. I., the New York Journal-American said Thursday.

The huge stock of construction material was taken over by the property utilization branch of the procurement division of the U. S. Treasury when WPA was abolished. All this equipment has lain idle for the past six months, the paper said.

The Journals' checkup of the yard revealed the presence of scores of wheelbarrows, at least 30 motor trucks, with rusted iron bodies and deflated rubber tires spoiling from idleness. Several mobile tar ovens unobtainable today; cast iron manhole covers and basins; steel forms for curbs and roads and sidewalks; about 100 steel concrete buckets; steel tripod cranes; 20 large steel concrete mixers, steam shovel buckets and acetylene tanks.

Vegetable seed flown from the United States has been planted in Brazil.

GERMANS WILL BURN FRANCE IF ALLIED INVASION SUCCEEDS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 18.—German troops will put French towns to the torch and blow up factories, bridges and railroads if an allied invasion drives the Nazis out of occupied France, the Nazi-controlled Paris radio declared in a broadcast reported Thursday by the OWI.

The "solidly established fact" that regions invaded will suffer "disaster" should tone down "some of the enthusiasm" of Frenchmen awaiting deliverance by the allies, the announcer said. He pointed out that the Germans would wreak all destruction possible to slow down an allied advance.

LOCAL PASTOR CHOSEN INSTITUTE DELEGATE

Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, has been appointed representative of the Congregational-Christian churches of Pennsylvania, to attend an institute on social action, to be held June 21 to 26, at the Central Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio.

The institute represents the Protestant churches of Ohio and Pennsylvania.

LIGHTNING KILLS 16 REGISTERED HOLSTEINS

(International News Service)

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., June 18.—Sixteen registered Holstein cows valued at $5,000, were disclosed today to have been struck by lightning as they huddled beneath a tree during a heavy rainstorm Tuesday.

The loss was suffered by Charles I. Small, Chambersburg, R. D. 5, farmer. They were part of a herd of 29 which had taken refuge under the tree. The tree itself was only slightly damaged, three small marks on the bark being the only indication that lightning had struck it.

Bundles' White Elephant Event For War Program

Bundles' From New Castle Plan Week's Events At Store Room Downtown To Get Funds

Bundles from New Castle, want all their friends to know that starting Monday afternoon and evening June 21 and continuing throughout the balance of the week on every afternoon, they are having a white elephant sale in their East Washington street room at the corner of Croton avenue. In work of this kind money is always needed.

Through efforts of this organization the first day rooms were furnished for Camp Shenango and we have responded to an early call for help with clothing for Russia, it is announced. This will soon be a nation wide appeal. Three large boxes of clothing were started to Portland, Ore., a few weeks ago to aid Russia's clothing needs.

Two young Lieutenants from Camp Shenango asked if we would add curtains to their day room furnished, by the Bell Telephone operators. Mrs. George Zerner, chairman of our sewing committee promptly secured the material needed, trying to match their accompanying color scheme. The ladies soon had them made and sent to the camp.

Mrs. Jessie M. Stenger, chairman of the local outfitting committee, is co-operating with the office of Public Assistance as well as the Red Cross and other sources knowing of local needs.

In the last six weeks, twelve families had been furnished with needed clothing.

We want to take this opportunity to thank the many friends who are continually bringing us nice clean clothing to be distributed.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

LIKES AND DISLIKES

With all our talk about vitamins and minerals and protein, we still must figure on our sense of taste.

We like some things and we do not like others. We eat cucumbers and like them. As far as we know they provide practically nothing of nourishment, minerals or vitamins. We eat them for the taste.

Some foods are very valuable but we do not like them. They do not taste good to us. They may not agree with us very well.

We have such a variety from which to choose, that we can find foods suited to our taste which will provide proper nourishment.

After we have selected the foods which will provide enough calories, vitamins and minerals we can add as many other kinds as we want to please our taste.

We should be sure however, that we are not deceived as to the proper values.

In snow, chains are less than 50 per cent effictive if not held tight by side springs. Loose chains in a snowbank sometimes remain stationary while wheels futilely spin within them.

PROBE CHAPLIN'S GAS RATIONING

OPA Wants To Know About Use Of Gasoline For Honeymoon Trip

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, June 18 — While Charlie Chaplin, the white-haired London mimic, was honey-mooning "Somewhere in Central California," today with his fourth 'teen-age bride, O. P. A. officials launched an inquiry into how he managed his motor trip under gasoline rationing.

Samuel Leask, Jr., Southern California OPA director, revealed he had telephoned OPA officials at Santa Barbara asking for a complete investigation.

Chaplin and his newest bride, Oona O'Neill, 18, daughter of playwright Eugene O'Neill, were reported to be in seclusion in the vicinity of Santa Barbara.

Leask said he was checking assertions that the Chaplin wedding entourage had been sighted speeding toward Carpenteria, Cal., for the nuptials at an "80-mile-an-hour" clip.

"We just want to know what's going on," Leask said, "And if there is any violation, any car driver will tell you what will happen."

Meanwhile red-haired Joan Barry, 23-year-old former screen protegee of the pantomine comedian, also remained in seclusion.

Miss Barry, who claims Chaplin is the father of her unborn child, was kept under constant care of physicians at a downtown Los Angeles hotel room.

WAACs In Africa Live In Convent

Observe Nine O'Clock Curfew In Algiers, But Have Plenty Of Recreation

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 18—WAAC's serving in North Africa are "living in a convent," and observing a 9 o'clock curfew, but, according to their director, Col. Oveta Culp Hobby, they are suffering from no lack of recreation.

Mrs. Hobby's testimony on housing and recreation facilities for her units abroad was made public today by the house appropriations committee, which questioned her on this and other points. She said:

"In London, they have taken over some old houses.

"In Africa, they are living in a convent. They are hospitalized the same as all military personnel."

But Rep. Snyder (D) Pa., chairman of the military subcommittee, wanted to know about recreation for the girls in North Africa.

"If you keep a boy or girl busy you keep out the devil and his work," said Snyder. "How about the recreation facilities to keep them busy?"

Col. Hobby conceded there was some question about that, but that "as far as that goes, it seems to be very wholesome." She added:

"In Algiers there is a curfew at 9 o'clock. Different units may have parties for these girls from 6 to 9 o'clock.

"I do not think there has been any lack of recreation in Algiers."

Over 11,000,000 pounds of kapoc was harvested in Ecuador in one month.

LANDLADY INHERITS $10,448 FROM MINER

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 18.—A 30-word verbal will composed by a coal miner 20 minutes before death today was likely to enrich Mrs. Mary Evans of nearby Beadling by $10,448.

The will of Peter Zemon, 52, of Upper St. Clair township, admitted for probate yesterday, directed that his estate go to Mrs. Evans at whose home he had roomed for 20 years after coming to this country from Russia. No relatives of Zemon, also known as Zemsoff, could be found.

The will, later put in writing directed: "I direct that my friend, Mary Evans, buy me a casket and give me a decent burial. All that is left in my bank accounts, I give to Mary Evans."

DAVIS AND OWI FACING ATTACKS

Congressional Critics Of OWI Increasing; Funds For Bureau May Be Cut Drastically

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 18. — A strong bi-partisan move to drastically curtail the office of war information gained headway in the House today as the membership neared a vote on a pending appropriations bill containing the 1943-44 fund for the agency.

With congressional criticism of the OWI increasing daily, it was learned that a group of Republicans and southern Democrats have joined forces in a drive to slash a $34,000,000 allocation for OWI in such fashion that the agency will be virtually removed from the domestic news, radio and motion picture fields without impairing its anti-Axis campaigns in other countries.

These members, working quietly, declined to reveal the exact nature which their restrictive proposals will take, but they claimed the votes to put them over.

Davis Is Target

This disclosure came as OWI director Elmer Davis, himself the target of fresh blasts from congress, renewed his criticism of Washington newspaper correspondents whom he accuses of placing too much emphasis on the confusion and discord in the nation's capital and too little on the accomplishments to be observed on the Washington scene.

Rep. Starnes (D) Ala., took Davis to task today, declaring that the "American people have certainly obtained more truth from the Washington correspondents — and without the discoloration of propaganda—than from Mr. Davis' OWI."

Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., accused the OWI itself of "spreading false stories that tend to create disunity and discredit the war effort," and added "that by comparison the Washington correspondents make Elmer Davis' outfit look sick."

The $34,000,000 carried in the bill already represents a $12,000,000 reduction in the amount originally sought by Davis. This slash was effected by the House Appropriations committee which put a further proviso in the measure making a special $5,000,000 foreign propaganda fund available only if approved by the director of the budget, thus bringing the total down to approximately $29,000,000.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 18—The department of public instruction has disclosed that horse-drawn vehicles have been substituted for buses to haul school children in rural areas to classrooms. The "horse and buggy" movement was prompted by drastic curtailment of motor conveyance ordered by the office of defense transportation during the wartime gasoline shortage. Other steps taken by the department in cooperation with the O. D. T. included abolition of bus service for children living less than two miles from school and elimination of service for pupils living within one and a half miles of a trunk route.

For the first time in the history of the bureau of vital statistics it is possible to file a birth certificate for foundling children. An act of the 1943 legislature has made it possible for persons abandoned in infancy by their natural parents to secure certified certificates even though the date and place of birth are not known. The act also removes from the certificate the word "legitimate," the bureau said, "because legitimacy is no concern of employer of governmental agencies." The bureau added that the new act embracing foundling children and legitimacy placed the state among the leaders in progressive vital statistics legislation.

The Pennsylvania historical commission has undertaken the job of recording Pennsylvania's participation in World War II in cooperation with the state defense council. After the war the commission will prepare an adequate history of the commonwealth's part in the war, but meanwhile periodical reports will be distributed to acquaint the public with the state's accomplishments. The commission receives hundreds of newspaper clippings and files them according to a classification system designed to make material on any subject immediately available. The subjects covered include the social, economic, and political aspects of the war as well as the military. Outstanding accomplishments of Pennsylvanians also are recorded.

Secretary of Health A. H. Stewart has disclosed that the state will operate an isolation hospital at Lancaster for women infested with veneral diseases. Stewart said the hospital, containing 75 beds, probably would be in operation by the end of the summer. He explained that other isolation hospitals were unable to cope with the increased disease rate. Persons admitted to the hospital will be treated by state doctors and nurses. In addition to the houses of the Good Shepherd throughout the state, the only other isolation hospital is located in Pittsburgh.

Warns Of Revolt Against Waste

Senator George Says People Aroused Over Governmental Waste And Extravagance

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Sen. Walter F. George (D) Ga., chairman of the Senate Finance committee,today warned of a revolt of the people against governmental waste and extravagance.

"There is a revulsion of feeling which won't be delayed many months," George said. "The people will express their feeling at the ballot box".

With the people bearing heavy taxes and the treasury calling for more, George declared that the nation's economic structure may break and the war be lost by continuing unnecessary expenditures.

"You can lose the war through extravagance and waste and you can lose it through lack of manpower and raw materials necessary to maintain your civilian economy," he said

Calls For 300,000 Cut

George's warning followed the report of the Byrd Economy committee condemning government waste and calling for relimination of 300,000 federal employes.

While the nation wants to back the war effort 100 percent, George said it would be helpful if the Army and Navy could cut down the $100,000,000,000 military budget.

"We give the War and Navy departments everything they want," he said. "But we would not have any trouble paying one-half the cost of the war if the Army and Navy cut down to $75,000,000,000.

"And there would be more manpower and raw materials to provide the materials needed for the civilian economy. Regardless of what the Army and Navy thinks, there has got to be a greater regard for manpower and distribution of raw materials necessary to maintain the home front."

Mother Receives Treasured Gift

Perhaps no mother in New Castle will treasure the Mother's Day gift she received from her son for Mother's Day, as does Mrs. R. B. Proctor, of 413 Elizabeth street, Mrs. Proctor received a V-mail letter from her son, Corp H. R. Proctor on which was handsomely inscribed in his own handwriting, the following:

"Citation"

For meritorious service over and above the line of duty; for courage and unselfishness; for utter devotion.

For immense sacrifices without thought to self; for gallantry of achievement;

And for conduct inspiring to her son, I recommend: My Mother, for the highest honors bestowed upon mortals.

Attested and witnessed this Mother's Day, May 9, 1943, 'Howdy' with love.

Corp. Proctor, has been confined to a military hospital somewhere in Iran, recovering from injuries received when thrown from a truck. Latest word from him indicates that he is getting along nicely.

New Coal Strike Crisis Is Near

Coal Truce Is Near Another Expiration — Washington Awaits Developments

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The gravest labor crisis of the war moved toward a new climax today with a third coal strike on the horizon and the fate of the War Labor Board in jeopardy.

Events of the next 48 hours promised to disclose whether the nation's 540,000 miners again will leave the coal fields, whether the WLB will be shorn of its labor representation, and to what degree the government's entire labor policy is imperiled.

Official Washington waited tensely for these developments:

The WLB's decision in the prolonged coal-wage dispute.

Acceptance or rejection of the verdict by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers union.

Approval or veto of the drastic connally-Smith anti-strike bill by President Roosevelt.

As the WLB met behind closed doors to conclude its deliberations, indications mounted that the ultimate decision will be unfavorable to the miners, heightening the possibility of another work stoppage when the current strike truce expires at midnight Sunday.

The possibility existed that Lewis might refuse to sign a contract with the coal operators on the WLB's terms, but might agree to maintain uninterrupted production of coal as long as the mines remain under government management.

ASTORIA GARDENER ADMITS CHARGES OF TRADING WITH ENEMY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 18.—Helmut Leiner, 34-year-old Astoria gardener acquitted of treason last fall, Thursday pleaded guilty to three charges of trading with the enemy.

Interrupting his trial on the charges, he admitted changing two $50 bills for Edward John Kerling, the leader of the Nazi sabotage group which landed on the Florida coast a year ago, with full knowledge that Kerling had come here on a mission of destruction for the Nazi government.

Until today Leiner had insisted that he did not know Kerling, since executed, was here to ro sabotage.

Leiner now faces a maximum sentence of 30 years imprisonment and $30,000 in fines. Federal Judge Edward A. Conger, before whom he has been on trial since last Tuesday, will improse sentence June 25.

Recognized methods of protecting the eyesight of workers are being overlooked by industry, in contrast with the widespread provision of general safety measures, a recent report of "Industrial Eye Efficiency in the War Program" of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness disclosed.

HITLER RISKS DROP IN MORALE UNLESS HE ATTACKS RUSSIA

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, Thursday asserted that unless Hitler launches a new offensive against Russia soon, the morale of the German people and army will sag.

"If Hitler admits he cannot attack Russia, he is certainly in for grave internal disquiet," Davis stated at a news conference.

The entire Nazi theory, he said, is to keep going ahead, to stay on the offensive.

The OWI director also said that a Hitler offensive must come very soon if it is to be successful, pointing out that both the offensive last year and two years ago were begun in June.

RETURNING HERO DISAPPOINTED BY HOMEFRONT KICKS

(International News Service)

MEDIA, Pa., June 18.—Although Marine Private Jack Sugarman didn't say so in so many words, there was no denying today that behind his subtle rebuttal of homefront complaints there was a feeling of deep disappointment.

Back home on his first furlough in 18 months, the kid from Media, a lad who—by accredited count—killed 132 Japs in one engagement on battle-scarred Guadalcanal, found his neighbors sadly lacking.

Jack wasn't disappointed in the way the folks greeted him for he got a hero's welcome with all the trimmings, but he was both bewildered and surprised at the complaints voiced by many of his visitors over the "hardships" on the homefront.

Jack wanted to spend his 40-day leave just relaxing in the Sugarman home above a grocery store, seeing old friends. Instead, his visitors regaled with rationing "grips", tales of strikes and the like.

Subtly, the 20-year-old hero countered each complaint with grim battlefront stories. When shoe rationing was mentioned he told of fighters who lost their shoes and walked barefoot for days through infested jungles. An elderly matron who complained of her "nerves" was reminded of Sugarman's buddy, who was sent home because he lost his mind and doesn't even know he's home yet.

There was talk of strikes for higher wages to meet the rising cost of living. And when they looked to him for comment, Sugarman said, calmly: "Strikes let the fighting fellows down. I'd tell you what the kids in the foxholes say...but my mother's here."

Jack's father, who also runs a butcher counter in the grocery store, thought his son would like a nice steak...but there were no steaks in the refrigerator, so they went to a restaurant.

"The steak was swell, pop," Jack said. "But don't try to keep it up, 'cause I'll be here for 40 days. Now I knew a fellow out in Guadalcanal who once lived on berries for 40 days..."

DORMONT SCHOOL BOARD SOLICITOR DOUBLY CHARGED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 18 — John A. Metz, veteran school board solicitor for suburban Dormont, today faced the double problem of explaining an alleged shortage in school funds and raising $5,280 assessed against him.

In a supplemental audit report filed yesterday in Common Pleas court, it was claimed that Solicitor Metz and the seven members of the school board unlawfully collected interest and commissions from delinquent taxpayers in the sum of $1,889.67 during the fiscal year.

A surcharge of $4,883.27 was filed against Metz on the basis of an audit of a bank account, out of which he paid checks for personal use and in which he deposited school board funds, the auditors reported.

FOOD SUPPLY IS SERIOUS PROBLEM

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 18.—Chester Davis, war food administrator and the man boomed by former president Herbert Hoover and other food production experts to head an overall food administration program, today was on record predicting that a shortage of food was sure to come.

Speaking at the continuing sessions of the dairymen's league cooperative, Davis said:

"We won't have enough food to satisfy all the claimants for all the kinds of food they want."

In making his first formal speech since March 25 when he assumed the role of war food administrator, Davis proposed a plan which Fred Sexauer, president of the Dairy Cooperative, said provided farmers with just what they wanted in a chance to boost farm production.

Davis directed criticism against price fixing of farm products, but specifically declared that he did not refer to the office of price administration. Davis also said that the food supply was the most neglected item of war management and added that "there is going to be chaos if it is not managed right."

Housewives Attend Food Preservation Show Put On Here

Mrs. Wilma Mundy, State Expert, To Demonstrate Preservation Methods Again Tonight

An audience of 100 housewives, including a number of members of Ellwood City classes in canteen work taught by Mrs. William Cosel and food nutrition taught by Mrs. Paul Hoagland, attended a public demonstration of methods and equipment of food preservation given by Mrs. Wilma Mundy, specialist in food preservation from Penn State College Agricultural Extension Service, on Thursday evening at Benjamin Franklin junior high school.

Sponsored by the Lawrence County Nutrition Council, the demonstration, which last night's audience appeared to find of unusual interest, will be repeated this evening at 8 o'clock at George Washington Junior high school.

First part of the demonstration consisted of a lesson in dehydrating of fruits and vegetables by Miss Helen Hurst, home economist of the Penn Power Company.

Throughout her demonstration and instruction Mrs. Mundy emphasized that foodstuffs must not be wasted this year, that fresh garden produce available from victory gardens should be preserved this year by housewives with proper methods to insure against spoilage.

She answered numerous questions from the audience as she canned tomatoes and broccoli by the hot pack method. Mrs. Mundy also demonstrated a pressure cooker, and gave careful instruction about sealing the new type cans.

Salting, venerable method of food preservation not widely used of late years, was suggested by Mrs. Mundy as an excellent way of wintering such vegetables as corn and lettuce.

HUNTSMAN-GORDEN

In the Chewton Christian church at 8:30 on Wednesday evening, June 16, Jane Huntsman, daughter of Mrs. Francis Schank of Chewton, became the bride of Private Jack L. Gorden, son of Mrs. Bertha Gorden of Ellwood City, with Rev. C. P. Durbin, pastor of the church, officiating.

The bride was attired in an attractive navy ensemble with white accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. She was attended by Mrs. John Miles, sister of the groom. John Miles served his brother-in-law as best man.

Would Put OWI On Dollar-Year Base

(International News Service)

Blood Donors Like 5 P. M. Afternoon Appointments Best

Donors Who Can Change To Earlier Afternoon Times Asked To Notify Red Cross

Blood donors who have registered to contribute blood when the mobile unit of the Red Cross Blood Donor Service is set up here at the First Presbyterian church on Monday, June 21, for two weeks are receiving notice of appointments from the local chapter house. Thursday appointments are being mailed this evening. Donors for the first three days have already received theirs.

Five o'clock in the afternoon and 5:15 are such popular times that those who are scheduling appointments request that anyone who has received such a late afternoon time or expressed a preference for after 5 o'clock who can conveniently come earlier in the afternoon, call the chapter house and have his appointment changed.

Places are still open on the schedule for Monday, June 28, from 1:15 to 1:30 and for Friday, July 2, between 1:15 and 3:15. Donors who can make it convenient to go at these times on either of these two days are asked to notify the chapter house.

More than 2200 donors have registered to date but unless some of them can change their appointment time, there will be some who cannot be accommodated and new registrations for early afternoon times will be made.

JUNIOR UAM ASKS STRICT CONTROL OF ALL JAPS IN U. S.

(International News Service)

TIFFIN, O., June 18.—Internment of Japanese aliens and strict supervision of American-born Japanese was the goal set Thursday by the Junior Order, United American Mechanics, bringing to a close its 19th biennial national convention.

The Junior Order also went on record as favoring continued exclusion of Chinese and greater restrictions on immigration from western hemisphere countries, as well as exclusion of communists as a political party.

A national sales tax on "practically all goods" was advocated as a war revenue measure.

Rollins B. Garrett, Hamilton, O., will head the order for the next two years, and the 1945 biennial convention will be held in Philadelphia.

TOKYO RADIO HAS JAP VERSION OF HUGE PLANE LOSS

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 18.—The Tokyo radio today gave its version of the gigantic air battle Wednesday off Guadalcanal and claimed that eight American ships were sunk and a ninth damaged when a large formation of Jap naval fighter planes and bombers attacked a convoy.

Washington's announcement yesterday that 77 Nipponese aircraft had been shot down made no mention of the presence of surface vessels and the enemy claim of having sunk ships from a convoy was not substantiated in any allied quarter.

Arrest Woman In Death Of Husband

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, June 18.—Mrs. Nancy Jeanette Holt, a beautiful 28-year-old blonde, was arrested here today by state police on a charge of poisoning her second husband Jesse Holt, 33, a worker on the construction gang building the "big inch" pipeline.

Mrs. Holt was picked up as she stepped from a train and was lodged in Greene county jail.

Holt, father of two children by a previous marriage, died May 27, but his death was first attributed to a heart condition. A post mortem, however, revealed that the construction worker's circulatory system contained traces of poison.

The attractive, twice-married woman was arrested when police claimed they traced several purchases of poison at a local drug store to her.

ELLWOOD NEWS

City Crews Clear Away Storm Debris

ELLWOOD CITY, June 18.—Ellwood City began to take on a normal appearance today after crews of city employees worked long hours to clear the streets and sewers from ashes, rubbish and other debris which swept into the lower section during Wednesday night's unusual torrential downpour.

Fifth street is again open to traffic and a few of the stores re-opened this morning, while others began the cleaning up process.

Cellars throughout the entire city were flooded in the storm which caused hundreds of dollars worth of damage. A number of the industries were also slightly slowed up by high water which swept into the main floors.

The storm caused great damage to dirt streets and sewers, and a part of the Sixth street sewer may have to be torn up for repairs.

Business Activity Recovery Evident

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 18.—Business activity recovered considerably during the past week from the crippling effects of the second soft coal strike, the bureau of business research of the University of Pittsburgh reported today in its weekly review.

The bureau noted decided gains in electric power production and freight shipments out of Pittsburgh, as well as a return to normal in bituminous coal output.

The vast steel industry went on increasing working schedules, but capacity production was not yet regained. The survey reported the expected heavy increase in the volume of shoe sales, and also indicated an increase in the number of passengers carried by trolley cars and buses.

WOMEN "MOTORMEN"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 18—Women street car "motormen" made their debut today in New York.

Two members of a group of 52 women undergoing training for trolley car jobs made the initial plunge. One was 40-year old mother of three children who commented: "Handling a street car isn't as easy as it looks."

Byrnes' "talent for anonymity" helped qualify him for the job. He isn't a spotlight hunter and won't be a rival for the presidency.

Members Move To Write Provisions In Bill To Outlaw Subsidies

By WILLIAM THEIS

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The full fire of an aroused house centered on the Office of Price Administration today as members moved to write provisions into the agency's annual appropriation outlawing subsidies and the extra-statutory enforcement of OPA edicts.

At the same time Republican critics of the agency—which in recent days has been rocked repeatedly by attack from both sides of congress—aimed other amendments at the Office of War Information and the Board of Economic Warfare. All three units are covered in the $2,991,000,000 omnibus bill for the nation's 18 war agencies.

Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., spearhead in the floor drive against OPA and OWI, said he also would introduce amendments to "civilize" the BEW.

House Aroused

The house showdown on OPA and its proposed $155,000,000 fund came but a few hours after counsel for the Smith committee made public a "confidential" OPA memorandum which he charged constituted evidence that the agency was trying to dominate free enterprise through profit controls.

The information was obtained under subpoena committee Counsel Harold L. Allen disclosed, from files shipped to his West Virginia home by David Ginsberg, who recently resigned as OPA general counsel.

One amendment against the OPA would prohibit the payment of salary funds to any official of the agency who administered or placed into operation subsidies. The other would ban salary payment to anyone imposing or enforcing a fine or jail sentence not specifically prescribed in statutes by congress.

Taber charged that the original price control act was passed "with the deliberate purpose of wrecking the small merchant and the small businessman," and the second act had the "deliberate purpose of wrecking the farmer," and that despite a change of administrators "long-haired professors even now are in key positions making decisions".

The subsidy moves he described as "ignorant and foolish operations inspired, I believe, directly by the president."

FUEL RATIONS LAST WINTER DID NO HARM TO HEALTH OF PUBLIC

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 18.—No impairment of public health resulted from fuel oil rationing last winter, reports to the contrary notwithstanding, Joel Dean, director of the fuel rationing division of the OPA, declared today in the Journal of the American Medical association.

"No single case of death due to fuel oil rationing directly or indirectly has been substantiated nor epidemic unearthed that could be laid to fuel oil rationing," he said.

Businessmen Should Plan For After War Conditions

By ROGER W. BABSON

(Copyright, 1943, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 18.—Althought I do not expect the European and Asiatic conflicts to be over until after the election in 1944, yet the time is fast approaching. Hence, it will be well for all businessmen — large and small—now to prepare a definite plan of post-war action. Certainly the "old days" will not return. New methods and policies are inevitable.

BABSON

Those who properly plan their work should succeed, but many of those who do not, will go under.

Study Profitable Items

Perhaps the first step is to make a survey of your present business and find out which departments and items are profitable and which are not. The present time gives every businessman a wonderful opportunity to cut out non-profitable lines and various unnecessary customs which have developed during past years. It is surprising how many of these can be eliminated without hurting the customer or the employe. These eliminations should be made before the war is over.

After the war, merchants will become more and more specialists. Competition will be very keen, both with American concerns and with foreign competitors. This means that costs must be cut to a minimum which can be done partly by standardization. The lines should be the very latest and best, but they should not be too extensive. It will be more profitable to give the best service at a low price carrying fewer lines. This often requires opposing both your own salesmen and the salesmen trying to sell you goods.

Base Costs On Normal Sales

When peace comes there will be a temptation to expand. Customers will be rushing in and demanding goods which you are not carrying; while returning soldiers and munitions workers will be urging you to give them jobs. Such of your former employes who have been drafted, you must take back if they apply within 60 days after their discharge; but it will not be patriotic to hurriedly enlarge your whole organization. Any business boom which takes place after peace will not continue indefinitely. Therefore, it is very important to base your stock and your labor costs on a normal business which can be depended upon to continue. Keep down fixed burdens such as rent, interest charges and other overhead costs.

Co-operate With the Government

Do not be upset by all the reports which you are obliged to fill out and by the various restrictions and regulations to which you are subjected. Get used to these things and quit trying to buck the inevitable. As long as our competitors are also subjected to them, we should co-operate with the government. Above all things, do not put in evasive or dishonest reports.

All of us should, of course, take on certain work when the government requests us to do so. On the other hand, let us not be hogs and take too much when other concerns are willing to take it for the same price. Hold at least 30 per cent of your normal business, independent of the government or war. Have in permanent stock only commodities which will be needed after the war. Many government contracts with concerns on the Atlantic seaboard will be cancelled when an armistice is declared with Germany. Contracts everywhere may be cancelled when an armistice is declared with Japan also.

Avoid Debt

As far as possible these war-time conditions should be used for getting out of debt. The theory that it is good to go into a period of inflation with a large debt is wrong. Wise businessmen will make little or no capital expansions at the present time. The conditions facing us after the war will be so very different than they are today, we should enter them with large cash reserves and no debts.

It is unwise now to speculate in raw materials or manufactured goods. There is no telling what prices will be after the war. The prices for some commodities will then go up; while the prices for other commodities will then go down. It is bad enough to have any slow moving items on hand when peace comes, but by all means avoid unnecessary commitments.

Insure Accounts Receivable

In addition to providing yourself with sufficient working capital and guarding against inventory losses, it is well carefully to watch receivables. If possible, keep these down to a 30-day basis. Even though you are careful yourself in providing for post-war reserves, many of your customers will not be so careful. Hence, when the government and sub-contractors cancel their contracts, the latter may be unable to pay you when they owe you. Thus, it is well to insure certain accounts receivable.

Companies having outstanding cumulative preferred stocks should try to retire such issues. This would be in addition to eliminating bond issues and bank loans. It is also wise to set up a sinking fund of 1 per cent of the net sales from now on to provide for losses on any receivables which are not properly insured. By all means do not "grab" for new war business at the present time.

What About Salaries?

The salary situation is now pretty well frozen so that it is very difficult to raise salaries even if desirable. Cases that are worthy of increases should be handled by bonuses so as to avoid unpleasant readjustments after the war is over. Salesmen can be kept on a sliding scale, but this should be based on profits rather than on volume. Although the temptation today is to keep all employes, yet there are some who could wisely be let go to their advantage as well as yours.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council met Thursday in city hall and adopted resolutions conforming to views held recently that certain nuisances concerning property should be abated within a specified time. The properties are located on Moravia street and were sold for 1930 city taxes and a barn in the Fourth ward. Council decided to view a building, formerly a blacksmith shop, in Cochran Way, which Fire Chief James Thomas reported is in a dangerous condition.

Mrs. J. S. Cox informed council Thursday she and her husband had bought an office structure owned by the Lehigh Portland Cement company and that it is to be converted into a dwelling. However, she pointed out that someone has damaged it to such an extent she believes the assessment should be lowered. Council decided to view the property.

Council adopted an ordinance Thursday which will permit the paying off at face of improvement liens up to 1936.

YOUTH SUFFERS BURNS

Clyde Hessing, aged 18 years, of R. F. D. No. 7, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital Thursday for second degree burns of the left forearm, received from exploding gasoline. Hessing was burning some brush and threw gasoline on the pile to hurry the job. It exploded, burning him severely.

FREE FISHING LICENSES

Under a recent ruling of the state, men and women in the armed forces may secure fishing licenses without charge when they are home on furlough, according to Earl R. Wimer, county treasurer. All that is needed is for the service man or woman to present himself or herself at the office of the county treasurer, prove service and the license will be issued.

TAXES COMING IN

County taxes are beginning to roll into the treasurer's office although this year the gross amount will be smaller because the tax levy is lower. The Institutional Tax levy of one half mill is one that nets but little to the county. It costs as much to collect a half mill as it does to collect 3 or 4 mills and the percentage of collection cost in this tax is undoubtedly higher proportionately than any other tax collected.

Charges Government Ignoring 'Equality Of Sacrifice' Idea

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 18.—President Roosevelt's "equality of sacrifice" principle has been "distorted, corrupted and deserted" in nearly every department of the government A. F. Whitney, of Cleveland, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, charged Thursday.

Testifying before the emergency board of the National Railway Labor panel at the wage hearing on the joint demands of five brotherhoods asking a 30 percent wage increase Whitney said he did not question the president's sincerity but added:

"The truth is that after almost two years we find in nearly every department of our government whether in congress or in war agencies, the principle of 'equality of sacrifice' is distorted, corrupted and deserted."

Since the law requires that the emergency board submit a recommendation to the president which "conforms with the general stabilization program," Whitney said, the board should admit evidence as to how the stabilization program is working out in practice.

No Particular Section Stands Out; Amusements, Aviations Show Gains

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 18—The stock market was irregular today in quiet trading. No particular section stood out, although amusements and aviations showed the best fractional gains.

Among those suffering fractional losses were Bethlehem, American Radiator, Standard Brands, International Nickel and U. S. Steel. General Motors, N. Y. Central, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck remained unchanged.

The bond market parallelled stocks in irregular prices and dull trading.

Reveal How Ammunition Was Taken To Egypt In 72 Hours From U. S.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—An account of how the Army Air Transport Command within the space of 72 hours rushed needed anti-tank ammunition from the United States to Egypt to contribute to the successful British stanc against Rommel was made public today on Capitol Hill.

The incident was related in testimony by Gen. H. L. George, chief of the A. T. C., in a recent appearance before the House appropriations committee. George recalled:

"When Rommel was pushing the British back into Cairo and it looked as if he was going to run the British out of anti-tank ammunition, we were called into service. There was none of this ammunition nearer than the United States or England and if it were attempted to send it by water it would have been a matter of five or six weeks at the best.

"There were appeals for ammunition—appeals to bring it by air if possible. The War Department received the request over here and I received an order to move as much ammunition as possible.

"Within 24 hours from the time we received that order, we had airplanes loaded down to capacity with anti-tank ammunition. The crews were impressed with the importance of their mission.

"They flew, in their enthusiasm, through some of the worst weather ever flown through, and they did so to get the ammunition there. Within 72 hours from the time they left with the ammunition, they arrived in Cairo.

"I do not say that stopped Rommel. It was the British Tommy over there and the anti-tank gun, but without that ammunition they could never have done it. It was a splendid demonstration in this global war."

Westminster College To House 100 Delegates To Northfield Conference

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, June 18.—During the week of June 23 to 29, the Northfield Conference will be held at Westminster college. About 100 delegates of teen-age girls are expected to attend this interdenominational religious gathering.

In former years the conference has always been held at Northfield, Mass., but due to transportation difficulties a decision was made to hold three separate conferences this year. Delegates from western Pennsylvania and western New York state will attend the conference, to be held on the Westminster campus.

Mrs. Arthur Vicory, of Erie, vice president of the Northfield league, will be in charge of the New Wilmington conference. Two other conferences will be held elsewhere at the same time, under the direct supervision of Mrs. Harper Sibley, president of the Northfield league.

The delegates will be housed in Browne hall, girls' dormitory, and will take their meals in Ferguson hall. All conference activities will be limited to the college campus.

The program for week of conference has not been announced.

CLEVELAND WINS DOUBLE HEADER

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 18.—The Cincinnati Reds today open at Pittsburgh in a series that will temporarily settle third place in the National League and possibly have something to say about second place unless the Brooklyn Dodgers suddenly get going again.

In beating the Cards yesterday, 6 to 1, the Reds got a five-hit mound performance from Elmer Riddle, who thus won his seventh game against three defeats, and at the same time handed Howie Krist his initial loss of the season after three wins.

The Dodgers blew their three-game series with the New York Giants—as a follow up to a previous loss—when the ultimate winners leaped on Kirby Higbe for five runs in the first inning, as further indication of the Dodgers' collapse on the mound. The final count was 8 to 5.

Bucs Shaded, 3-2

The Pirates took it on the chin when Ival Goodman hit a fourth inning homer with two on for the margin of victory, 3 to 2, as the Chicago Cubs snapped a five-game losing streak behind Paul Derringer in a game cut to seven innings.

The Philadelphia Phillies and Boston Braves split a double header, the former bowing before Manuel Salvo's four-hitter, 2 to 0, and coming back in the nightcap for a 7 to 2 victory to take the series by four games to one.

The New York Yankees increased their American league lead to four games over the second place Senators with a 9 to 8 victory achieved in the ninth when Early Wynn, Senator hurler, walked in the last of three Yank runs in that frame.

Rivals Tied For Top Post; Elder Loser To Potters Via Forfeit

Sensational two hit pitching by Ferrente sparked the Moose club to a 2-0 shut-out over the Lawrence Indies in Thursday's feature City Baseball league battle played on Mahoning field.

By virtue of the victory, the Moose today is deadlocked with the Indies for the top post.

The Moose tallied their runs in the third and fourth. Coulter featured at bat with three singles.

Anderson, toiling for the Indies, twirled a fair game, limiting the winners to eight safeties.

The rivals are stymied with four wins and two losses apiece.

Grab Forfeit

On Lee avenue field, the Elders' pennant hopes suffered a reverse when the Shenango Pottery copped a forfeit. The Elders, according to a report submitted by Manager Johnny Soho, of the Potters, were represented by only six players as the 6:15 o'clock deadline arrived.

The Elders borrowed three players and then proceeded with an exhibition tilt which the Potters copped, 3-2.

Sports Ramblings

Quick look—see into the sports cauldron:---

Like Garbo's "I wants to be alone" crack and Jimmy Durante's elongated pepper, Ralph H. Gardner's point system, employed by the WPIAL to name its various football champions, has been an inviting target for a lot of gags, especially so around Pittsburgh. Jack Henry, Smoky City scholastic writer took another poke at the plan when he wrote: Fritzie Zivic whipped Jake LaMotta even under the rules of the WPIAL point system! . . . .

In between long, straight drives and chip shots, P. H. Bridenbaugh was questioned about next season's football prospects at New Castle high. "That's like asking me to name the date when this war will end. I'll tell you if you ask me say about August 25 when the boys will be invited to the opening workout at Taggart stadium. It's a gloomy outlook now. It'll probably be the same then," the genial tutor offered . . . .

Mel Ott, the personable Giant manager who has established a lot of records, is proudest of his August 4, 1934 mark when he scored six runs in one game. No one else shares the feat . . . Instead of a toss up price, the bookies now have installed the Cards as an 8-5 favorite to walk in with the National banner. Few of the big name writers pick the St. Louis nine to win by as many as 10 games! . . . .

Of late, the Cleveland Indians have been consistent—losers. They're trying like anything to knock the bottom out of the American league after jumping from first place, mind you, to seventh—all in 11 days . . . Mel Ott, named as the No. 1 Father of the Year, has two daughters! . . . .

Thornton Lee, the White Sox lefty, up until Wednesday was the only major leaguer playing under a $1 conditional pact. . . At the start of the season, Lee signed a $1 a year contract which provided that the twirler would receive a certain sum if he lived up to expectations by June 15. He did so he'll receive the stipulated sum retroactive to the beginning of the season . . . .

Haegg-Rice 1,500 Meter Spin Sunday Feature; Trojans Enter Affair

By LEWIS BURTON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 18.—Remember Gill Dodds and Don Burnham? You may recall they are in the national track and field championships this week-end, too. Overshadowed by the Gunder Haegg versus Greg Rice international feature is the event which commands packed houses and 72-point headlines a half dozen times during the indoor season. Outdoors, however, it's the 1,500 meters instead of the mile.

Dodds, the Boston seminary student, will defend his title in the 1,500 meters tomorrow. Burnham, Dartmouth's intercollegiate indoor and outdoor and the national collegiate champion, is the chief challenger, it appears. He has had some stimulation the past few days working out at night with Haegg on the Dartmouth track.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

the Pacific and still punching. . . . Joe Louis states that he doesn't expect to defend his title until after the war. . . . Bob Montgomery has fought three champions, Lew Jenkins, Sammy Angott and Beau Jack. . . . Mike Jacobs wants to use Juan Zurita in New York.

Ring padding was first used as the result of the death of Walter Croot, English bantamweight champion from a skull fracture incurred in a knockdown at the hands of Jimmy Barry in London in 1897. (There was another Jim Barry, a heavyweight whom older fans will remember having fought Tom McMahon who visited here Wednesday) Sam Lampe, manager of Slugger White, may get the role of a "fight manager" in a picture to be written by that ace of writers and good fellows, Damon Runyon.

The Knockout quotes Al Lang as saying Baltimore's three greatest fighters were Joe Gans, Kid Williams and George K. O. Chaney—not a bad selection. Another good one, in our opinion, was Benny Franklin. After Benny left the fight game we fell heir to a brindle (pit) bulldog he owned and if Benny could fight as good as that brindle B-r-r-r! . . . The Knockout speaks favorably of Jimmy Dunn's hot Red Niebert (up for another fight with Jack Worlds) . . . Charley Burley, Pittsburgher, took Horace Greeley's advice to go west and is now fighting in California.

When Henry Armstrong started his comeback he weighed 164. . . . George Blake, referee, is interested in a soldier fighter—Sergeant Bob Jones (wait until this war is o'er and you'll see a crop of good ex-soldiers and ex-sailors or former air corps men in the ring). From dishes to riches, Bob Montgomery was a dishwasher in a cafeteria. He gave up breaking dishes to break reputations in the boxing world. What's this? Buddy Knox in a comeback attempt licked Bob Misap in Milwaukee. . . . There's a wrestler in California they call "Singer" Leone. Couldn't, by any chance, be Bill Leone.

RIDDLE'S HURLING BAFFLES LEADERS

ger Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox against the Philadelphia Athletics. The veteran shortstop came up as a pinch-hitter in each end of a double header with two men on and in each instance blasted out a homer, the first enabling the Sox to win, 5 to 4, but the second serving no purpose. The A's took the game, 8 to 7.

Another Frank Merriwell performance was put on by Luke Appling at Chicago, as the White Sox beat the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3, in 13 innings.

At Cleveland the Indians overcame a two-run homer by Pinky Higgins of the Detroit Tigers in the seventh inning to take a 12-inning ball game 6 to 5. This gave the Indians a clean sweep of the two-game series. They won the first, 3-2.

STARS ON HAND FOR A. A. U. MEET

striding, N. Y. U. Graduate Bill Hulse, of the New York A. C. Hulse, a chemist exempt from armed service because of the important nature of his work in a war plant, has given evidence that he is approaching superb form. He won the Metropolitan mile in 4:15.9, the fastest time for the distance in the country this season. Tuesday night in a two-thirds mile workout at Passaic, N. J., he surpassed the world's record by four-tenths of a second, clocking 2:45.

Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, the super-vaulter, was due in this morning after overcoming a transportation crisis in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Trojans Entered

Travel difficulties proved a boon to the meet in one respect. They have brought about the entire four-man University of Southern California team which won the N. C. A. A. meet last Saturday. Inability of Edsel Curry, broadjumper, and Doug Miller, javelin thrower, to book return passage to Los Angeles for one week led them to decide on coming all the way East to New York with teammates Cliff Bourland, quarter-mile champion, and Jack Trout, sprinter.

A survey of expert opinion roundabout finds a somewhat even division as between Rice and Sweden's Haegg in the 5,000 on Sunday. Dan Ferris, the highest A. A. U. authority, picks Rice to win by three yards.

AN ORDINANCE

Providing for the settlement of all improvement liens filed in favor of the City of New Castle prior to January 1, 1936.

WHEREAS, the City of New Castle, by ordinance passed October 17, 1940, and recorded in Ordinance Book, Volume 17, Page 4, provided for the reduction of interest charges upon and for the settlement of all improvement liens filed in favor of the City of New Castle prior to January 1, 1936, whereby many of the said liens have been settled, and

WHEREAS, because of the provisions of various Acts of Assembly abating interest and penalties to tax claims, many improvement liens that might otherwise have been collected have been allowed to remain unpaid in order that the delinquent taxes might be paid instead so that many of the liens have grown to an amount that properties against which they are filed will not produce sum sufficient to pay the said liens, and

WHEREAS, great many properties in the City of New Castle against which such liens are filed have been sold for taxes or abandoned by their owners because of the burden of the said improvement liens, and

WHEREAS, most of the said improvement liens filed prior to January 1, 1936, were assessed according to the foot-front rule at a price much in excess of the rate at which such improvements are now paid for and assessed, and all of the said old improvements were made entirely at the expense of the property owner, which is no longer the practice in the City of New Castle, and

WHEREAS, all of the said liens filed prior to January 1, 1936, were filed for improvements made and paid for by certificates of the City of New Castle which have now been absorbed by bond issues and other payments of tax money, which is no longer the practice of the City of New Castle, so that the interest charge against the City of New Castle for the making of the said improvements have long since ceased, and

WHEREAS, the Council of the City of New Castle is of the opinion that all of the said liens filed prior to January 1, 1936, which can possibly be collected from the said properties, could now be collected if the interest and penalties thereon were remitted and rebated and that if such settlement of the said liens is not made at this time, the City of New Castle will never be able to collect more than a very small percentage of the said liens and will suffer great loss, thereby, that it is for the general benefit and welfare of the City to have all of the said liens settled within the next twelve (12) months.

SECTION 1. NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED AND ENACTED by the Council of the City of New Castle that, in order to settle all improvement liens filed in favor of the City of New Castle prior to January 1, 1936, the City Solicitor is authorized and directed to settle the said liens at the face, thereof, with the costs which have been paid to preserve the same at any time prior to the 1st day of July, 1945; provided the persons interested in the properties against which such liens are filed shall agree with the City Solicitor or on before the first day of July, 1944, to pay the same within one year from the date of such agreement according to the following plan, to-wit:

Any person so interested in any of the said properties shall sign a written statement to the City Solicitor that he proposes to pay the said lien off within twelve (12) months from the date of such statement and shall pay to the City Solicitor at least one-twelfth of the amount of the original claim with costs and shall pay the balance of the said original claim with costs in eleven (11) additional equal monthly payments, so that all of the original claim with costs shall be fully paid within twelve (12) months from the date of the said statement and agreement of settlement.

Any person who shall desire to do so may pay the original claim and costs on any of the said liens in full at any time prior to the 1st day of July, 1944, or, if he has signed a statement and agreement of settlement prior to that date, he may pay the whole of the said original claim with costs at any time within twelve (12) months from the date of the said statement or agreement.

SECTION 2. Whenever any person has paid the original claim and face of any lien filed in favor of the City of New Castle, prior to January 1, 1936, after this ordinance has become effective, and in accordance with the terms of this ordinance, the said lien shall be satisfied and the City Solicitor shall cause the same to be marked satisfied on the records in the office of the Prothonotary of the County of Lawrence.

I, C. Ed. Brown, City Clerk of the City of New Castle, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing ordinance was adopted by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pa., signed by the Mayor and attested by the City Clerk.

In witness whereof, I hereunto set my hand and affix the corporate seal of the City, this 17th day of June, 1943.

Teachers To Get Cost Of Living Increase For Year

Salary Adjustment For Past School Term To Be Paid By School District

ELLWOOD CITY, June 18.—At the June meeting of the Ellwood Board of Education last night at the Lincoln school it was agreed to pay the cost-of-living salary adjustment to the teachers of the school system for the past year, as was done in the preceding year.

Based on an 18 per cent increase in the cost of living, the amount of each extra payment will be $275. The new increase in the salaries of teachers as passed by the state legislature becomes effective for the 1943-44 term. It is understood that the increase included in the bill will be augmented by the board to meet the cost-of-living scale.

Resolutions were passed calling for the borrowing of $10,000 in June and $30,000 in July on tax-anticipation notes from the People's National bank at a three . cent interest rate. The $10,000 will be used to meet the June payroll, and the $30,000 to make the cost-of-living payment in mid-July.

The resignation of Mrs. Dorothy Young Hoenstine as a teacher was accepted. Vacancies in the school system will not be filled until the new schedule of classes is arranged.

Dr. Arthur Hoenstine was re-elected as school doctor at the present salary.

The collector, Howard Wilson, was exonerated of the 1942 duplicate. Taxes were collected for the year with the exception of some 10 per cent per capita tax. The delinquent list will be given to the delinquent office for collection. It was decided to close the delinquent office by November 1. Miss Hermine Zekeli and Charles Smith were re-elected delinquent tax collectors at the present rate.

A report of commissions showed that the regular tax collector received for the collection of the 1942 duplicate the sum of $2,363 from the school district, and $1,069 from borough tax collections.

It was agreed to again adopt the new tax abatement plan, whereby delinquent property tax can be paid without interest and penalties in five equal payments as long as the current taxes are paid.

The board did not accept the sum of money allotted by the U. S. Government Housing Project in lieu of taxes. It is stated it did not meet the contract as originally held by the school district and the government and, in addition, the board holds that the government has not paid the first year, beginning with the second year of the project. The Housing Authority states that the original contract is void, such agreements having been superseded by an act of Congress. The Authority also disputes, it is understood, the time, as held by the board, that the payments begin. They also maintain that the assessment is not in proportion to the average assessment of property in the community. The school district solicitor will again confer with the Authority in an effort to obtain a complete settlement.

The board will advertise for coal bids.

Total tax collections for the month of May amounted to $3,729, with the largest amount being $1,-769 for 1942 per capita tax.

The athletic fund report showed a balance on June 1 of $347. This was considered a good report, with basketball having paid its own way this past year.

A report of the dental examinations conducted gratis by local dentists in grades 1, 2 and 3 was made. Reports of the examinations were sent to the parents of each of the 557 pupils examined, in an effort to have the co-operative work done before the opening of school in September. Of the total children examined, only 57 had perfect teeth. There were a total of 3,243 cavities found. Only 15 molars (second teeth) had been lost by 10 of the pupils.

SEEK PRICE ON KOPPEL BRIDGE

ELLWOOD CITY, June 18.—Negotiations on a fair price for the Koppel toll bridge were started last night between the Chamber of Commerce good roads committee and the owners of the Ellwood-Koppel toll bridge. Chamber officials informed the owners of the bridge and pulled no punches in telling them that the price of the bridge must be fair and reasonable or the state highway department will not even consider purchasing the bridge.

Another conference with the owners of the bridge company is scheduled tomorrow morning and A. E. Conner, Chamber of Commerce president, and Secretary R. J. Schill expect to have a purchase price to offer John N. Schroyer, state secretary of highways.

COUNCIL AGREES TO FIX STREETS

Will Compromise With Realtors in Re-Surfacing Rolling Hills Cartways

ELLWOOD CITY, June 18.—According to legal advice secured by the Ellwood boro council, the boro is somewhat liable for the condition of Argonne boulevard and California avenue in the Rolling Hills section, it was reported at an adjourned meeting of council last night.

It is understood that the boro failed to hold the developers to the contract during the allotted time, and in addition underground springs developed, a condition unknown to either the boro or the realtors.

The street committee and boro manager were given power to act in having the streets repaired. The cost it was said will be approximately $2100, and Fox and Smith will contribute a part of the repair cost in a compromise agreement. The boro has already put in the storm sewer in Argonne boulevard.

Bids for the improvement of the sewage disposal plant were received. There were four bids: New Castle Duntile company, $78,492; Sharpsburg Construction company, $93,000; Alex DeBlozio, Youngstown, $72,670, and Alpha Construction company, Pittsburgh, $93,000. The bids were all higher than the total estimate made by the Chester Engineering company, which will supervise the project. Bids were referred to the sewer and finance committee and the engineering company.

The bid for supplying and applying 55 tons of calcium chloride to all dirt streets of the boro was awarded to the Seidel Coal company, whose bid was $32.75 per ton. The other bid was from the Davis Coal company of New Castle at $34.50 per ton. Oil could not be secured.

The People's National bank was chosen as the boro depository for the year 1943. A resolution was passed exonerating the tax collector, Howard E. Wilson, from the unpaid portion of the 1942 duplicates.

Since gas rationing, garbage collections have jumped 100 per cent and will go about 15 per cent higher in the warm weather, Boro Manager Lowell W. Monroe reported. It was suggested that the fee, which has been 50 cents a month for the past 15 years, be increased since it is inadequate to pay for the 13 stops a month, the upkeep of the truck, wages of the collector and maintenance of the incinerator. The matter was referred to the health committee and boro manager with power to act.

Four city-owned lots in Beaver avenue were sold to M. Tammaro at a bid of $800. Councilman Meneice protested the sale, stating that the boro held paving and sewer liens against the lots amounting to approximately $350 each.

Another adjourned meeting will be held next Thursday night at 7:30.

Bollinger-Zukas Wedding Saturday

Morning Ceremony Planned By Local Girl At St. Peter's Cathedral In Pittsburgh

ELLWOOD CITY, June 18 — St. Peter's Cathedral, in Pittsburgh, will be the scene of a lovely wedding on Saturday morning when Miss Martha Mary Bollinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bollinger of Frisco, becomes the bride of Eugene George Zukas, of Lorain, Ohio, son of Mrs. Mary and the late Joseph Zukas, of Edmon, Pa.

Using the single ring ceremony, Rev. O'Shay will officiate in the presence of many relatives and friends.

For her wedding, the bride will wear a becoming two-piece egg shell ensemble with a pastel pink crocheted straw hat with a large calot of flowers and a navy veil. Her other accessories will be navy. A corsage of pink orchids will complete her ensemble.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Emily Zukas, of Apollo, will be the maid of honor, and will appear in a beige ensemble with white accessories. She will wear a corsage of gardenias.

Joseph Zukas, of Sewickley, will attend his brother as best man.

A reception following the ceremony will be held in the William Penn hotel for the bridal party and the immediate families. After a short wedding trip, the couple will reside at the Overlook apartments, Lorain, O.

The bride is an honor graduate of the Ellwood high school with the May class of '39 and of the Butler County Memorial Hospital school of Nursing with the June, '42 class. Since February she has been serving as assistant nurse in the Ellwood schools, and has been doing private duty nursing in the Ellwood hospital. She is an active member of the Butler Alumni, and of the American Red Cross nursing service.

Miss Bollinger and her twin sister, Lt. Mildred Jean Bollinger, of the Army Nurses Corps, are well-known here. Lt. Bollinger had planned to attend her sister as maid of honor but is unable to come because she is on foreign service call.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Bell township high school, at Saltsburg, Pa., with the May class of '39, and of the school of Mines and Metals, University of Pittsburgh, class of February, '43. He is now a metallurgical engineer at the National Tube company works, Lorain, O.

Miss Edith Shremp entertained at a lovely luncheon on Tuesday in honor of the bride. The attractively appointed table was centered with roses. Miss Rachael Cross, niece of the hostess, presented the honor guest with a beautiful gift. Included in the group were the Misses Vivian Schuster, Anna Czar, Virginia Maxwell and Mrs. Shirley Weaver and Mrs. Lena Cross.

Fred Pence was host to the metallurgical and industrial engineering division of the Lorain works in honor of the bridegroom last week.

Among the out-of-town guests at the ceremony will be: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Bollinger and Oceal Bollinger, of this city; Miss Eleanor Zukas, of Hollywood, Cal.; Mrs. Florian Zukas of Wilkinsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keys, of Edmon, Pa.; Fred Pence of Lorain, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brenneman, of Cleveland.

Reports from Africa tell us that men unbathed for weeks aren't troubled by fleas. Wonder if that would work with mosquitoes?
